By HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

Praising the "far sighted vision, the courage and the leadership" of President Roosevelt, Mayor Key last night launched his tenth year as Atlanta's chief executive. The mayor asserted the depression is over insofar as Atlanta is concerned, lauded municipal employees and announced a shake-up of the important police committee of city council. Key predicted Roosevelt's reelection and scored the President's critics.

The reorganization meeting was featured by general good humor and a carnival atmosphere despite a pall which hung over the proceedings because of the death of J. Hanson Tatum, city clerk. Tatum's desk was draped and council members spoke in subdued voices. The galleries, however, responded enthusiastically to Key's defense and praise of the national administration.

Intangibles Classification Attacked.
Pressing sharp division of opinion and a split in certain administration policies, Councilman J. Allen Couch, fifth ward, last night launched an attack on the proposed classification of intangibles for municipal taxation.

The move came as a surprise as Couch offered a resolution calling assessors' attention to the fact that a classification was placed into effect last year and urging the assessors not to do so again.

Couch's move came on the heels of a recommendation from Mayor Key that the classification be continued for another year, and be made a permanent policy of the city. The move, however, went to the 1936 tax committee for study.

Another surprise was sprung when Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, eleventh ward, offered an ordinance empowering the mayor pro tem. to appoint a committee of five to probe charges hurled at Atlanta police by the November-December grand jury.

The measure was passed and it will go to Mayor Key for his action following selection of a city clerk to succeed Tatum at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. There was some conjecture as to whether the mayor would approve the move or not inasmuch as Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant, a Key protégé, was the subject of sharp criticism.

The serious charges filed by the grand jury are either true or they are not true and we should investigate them," Murphy told city council. "Even the police committee is indirectly taken to task, since the committee has direct charge over the department."

Adjourned Session.
The adjourned meeting of council was decided on at the suggestion of the mayor, who pointed out that the city is without a clerk and expressed a doubt that the city could function.

TALMADGE TO PAY JUDGES' SALARIES UNDER NEW RULING

Yeomans Says Stipends
Fixed by Law Are 'Continuing Appropriations,'
in Opinion for Governor

Governor Talmadge yesterday found a way to pay the salaries of the judges of the various state courts, creating a situation which may eventually result in the judges who are being paid being called upon to rule whether or not other officials and employees of the state may have their salaries.

Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans, acting for the Department of Law, furnished the Governor with an opinion holding that all state officials whose salaries are fixed by law, these officials including the attorney-general as well as the justices of the supreme court, the judges of the court of appeals, the judges and solicitors-general of the superior courts, may be paid under Section 89-701 of the Code of 1933.

The opinion brought renewed hope to hundreds of state employees who have felt their salaries were doubtful. They felt reassured by the belief that if some officials of the state are paid all will be paid. Legal technicalities notwithstanding.

"Continuing Appropriation."
The attorney-general ruled that this particular section constituted an annual and continuing appropriation.

The ruling follows:
"Your request that I advise you as to whether or not in the absence of a general appropriation act the state treasurer would be authorized to pay the salaries of the officers of this state whose salaries are fixed by law, received.

"Section 89-701 of the Code of 1933 provides as follows:
"The various sums of the annual salaries of all the officers of this state whose salaries are fixed by law are hereby appropriated annually to pay said officers until said salaries are changed by law."

"The section above quoted applies to any office created either by the constitution or by the law, the duties of which are fixed by law.

"I am of the opinion that this section authorizes the treasurer to pay the salaries of all the officers of this state whose salaries are fixed by the constitution or law, and constitutes an annual and continuing appropriation for that purpose."

Talmadge Won't Comment.
Governor Talmadge would not comment on the ruling. Asked to say something, he came back:

"You newspapermen can speculate and comment as you please. You have been doing it. You have been furnished with the opinion of the state's attorney-general. It speaks for itself and its language is plain."

Like the Governor, State Treasurer George B. Hamilton had "no comment to make." It will be up to the state treasurer to pay salary and other warrants when they are presented to him by the Governor. So far the state treasurer has "gone along" with the Governor.

BONUS APPROVED; HOUSE COMMITTEE SEEKS EARLY VOTE

Ways and Means Body
Gives Unanimous Consent to Measure Backed by Three Organizations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Without a single voice raised in opposition, the house ways and means committee voted today for cash payment of the bonus to 3,000,000 war veterans.

Sitting in secret session until after dark, the committee approved a bill supported by leading veterans' organizations and once-warring house blocs. Plans were drawn for a speedy house vote.

Only minor changes were made in the measure, which would:

Give former soldiers full maturity value of their adjusted compensation certificates.

Allow those desiring to hold their certificates and cancel unpaid interest. Set up no definite method of raising the money for payment, estimated by supporters of the bill at $1,000,000,000 immediately upon enactment.

The way was cleared for the committee to report the measure when in new currency decided to postpone their fight over the method of payment and join the drive for passage of the authorization bill advanced by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

Committee members said that votes along strict party lines brushed aside suggestions by Representative Treadway, republican, Massachusetts, ranking minority member, that the bonus be paid with relief money or through a bond issue.

Having tussled with the issue for years, the committee passed up open hearings. Chairman Doughton, democrat, North Carolina, said it decided to use all available parliamentary procedure to get the bill up in the house as soon as possible.

Representative Vinson, democrat, Kentucky, cosponsor of the legislation, said that the bill would be "taken up Wednesday—Thursday for sure" and speed to the senate "at the earliest possible moment."

The house leadership, however, already has plans for bringing up the independent offices appropriation bill on Wednesday, said Speaker Byrnes.

He said that there was "every disposition" on the part of the leadership to co-operate in obtaining quick action on the bonus.

House factions finally united behind the legislation, Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, who had considered introducing it in the senate, decided to hold back.

He made that decision after talking with Senators Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, and Steiwer, republican, Oregon, cosponsors of a measure which would provide 97 per cent of full payment immediately and 100 per cent in 1938.

The only witnesses before the ways and means committee were Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, veteran administrator, and Harold W. Breiling, assistant in charge of finance and insurance.

Committee members said they supported the contention of backers of the bill that it would cost only $1,000,000,000 in cash now.

DECISION ON AAA UPSETS ESTIMATE ON 1937 BUDGET

Roosevelt's Message, Sent to Congress, But President Runs Into Fresh Revenue Difficulties.

Text of President's Budget
Message in Page 11.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt transmitted to congress today a 1937 budget forecasting a more than billion dollar deficit, only to have his estimates thrown out of kilter by the supreme court's AAA decision.

Even as the reading clerks of the house and senate droned through the chief executive's communication, the court swept away the source of an estimated $1,076,342,000 in revenues, over a two-year period, by invalidating the processing tax.

Immediately, President Roosevelt and his aids decided to seek funds to pay off existing AAA benefit payment contracts. Unofficially it has been estimated $500,000,000 would be required. Before the court's decision, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the possibility of new taxes in this regard.

Surprising many, the chief executive also left open in his budget message the amount of money to be asked for relief.

Submitting only a partial estimate for relief costs, he placed a $1,000,000,000 minimum on the 1937 deficit, as compared with a deficit of $3,284,000,000 now estimated for the current fiscal year, and an actual deficit of $5,575,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In both the message and a supplementary press conference, he maintained that estimated revenues will be sufficient to cover all expenditures then contemplated except those for relief, with $5,000,000 left over to be applied to the latter.

For relief he tentatively allotted $1,103,000,000 of unexpended previous appropriations, adding that two months hence, when the situation can be more accurately gauged, he will submit additional estimates.

Subject, therefore to the increase in relief expenditures the chief executive estimated 1937 receipts at $5,554,000,000 as compared with $4,478,000,000 for the current year, and expenditures at $6,752,000,000, as compared with $7,645,000,000 for the present year.

These estimates, however, were predicated upon continued collection of processing taxes and payment of farm benefits. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt included in his message a repetition of a warning enunciated in September:

"Estimates of receipts contemplate continued collection of processing taxes. If the attack which has been made upon this act is sustained, we will have to face the problem of financing existing contracts for benefit payments not of some form of new taxes."

In addition to the "existing contracts" estimated by some to require $500,000,000, there was unanswered speculation whether the treasury could be forced to restore some $350,000,000 of processing taxes, and $180,000,000 impounded by the lower courts, pending the high court's decision.

For practical and immediate effect upon the budget, observers pointed to estimates of $329,000,000 in processing taxes to have been collected during the current fiscal year. With six months of that period elapsed, the treasury has collected only $65,428,000.

At the same time, the cost of the farm program for the present fiscal year has been estimated at $621,000,000. Of that amount, a total of $370,000,000 has been paid.

U.S. OFFICIALS SEEK AAA SUBSTITUTE COTTON, HOG GAINS

All Processing Taxes and Farm Payments Halted
in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The administration, obviously taken aback by the sweeping character of the supreme court's invalidation of the AAA, tonight sought grimly but without immediate answer for some substitute farm plan.

From a hurriedly-summoned White House conference came a report that President Roosevelt hopes to pay farmers for complying with existing crop control contracts up to today. But even the method for doing this was not clear.

So sweeping was the court's decision in knocking down all existing parts of the AAA that in one informed official's opinion it was said such payments, if made, might have to be direct grants without any obligation on the part of the farmer at all. That is, it was explained, the payment might have to be made without reference to what it was paid for.

Payments Halted.
While hurriedly seeking some substitute, the administration tonight moved to halt virtually all AAA operations. The treasury announced formally, long after midnight, that no further processing taxes could be collected.

Bruno Death Date Postponed Few Days

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was given a few more days of life today when officials of Trenton state prison decided they would not execute him on the night of Tuesday, January 14, but would postpone it until later in the week.

It is customary in New Jersey to execute prisoners on Tuesday night, but January 14 coincides with the opening of the legislature, and for that reason Principal Keeper Mark O. Kimberling decided on a postponement. Kimberling refused to reveal the new date set for the execution, but most persons believe it will be Friday, January 17.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT URGED BY ORGANIZED FARM BODY HEADS

Ruling Gives Rise to Widespread Conjecture
Over Future of Other Statutes, Including
Social Security, Guffey Coal and Wagner
Labor Disputes Acts Passed by Congress.

Text of Opinions in Pages 9 and 10.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The supreme court splintered AAA—second corner stone of the New Deal—so completely today that previously planned patchwork was all but forgotten.

An uncompromising 6-to-3 opinion not only wiped out President Roosevelt's cherished farm-aid program, but threw a shadow of doubt over other recent major legislation.

The treasury tonight halted all processing tax collection under the law, and said that "for the present, no checks will be issued for benefit or rental payments, or refunds, or for administrative purposes."

Treasury officials interpreted the order, issued after a three-hour conference with its counsel, as halting further salary checks to AAA's 6,500 full-time employees, as well as part-time workers throughout the nation.

White House Conference.
Farmers have received $1,127,000,000 since 1933 for reducing crop production under AAA's plan of federal control.

In shocked silence, the administration leaders were called to the White House. They talked it over with the President for two hours. They emerged saying no decision had been reached on what to do.

The White House conferees said Mr. Roosevelt hoped to find means under the decision to pay farmers who have fulfilled existing contracts—up to their invalidation today.

Proposals for a constitutional amendment were heard immediately—just as they were last spring when the high tribunal unanimously struck NRA's death blow.

Bankhead Assails Ruling.
Senator Costigan, democrat, Colorado, said that "unless convinced that other early action will more definitely serve the public good," he will press for action on his amendment to give congress the right to regulate agricultural production—and business and industry as well.

The opinion of the court majority, read by Justice Roberts, was called a "political stump speech" by late Senator Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, whose cotton control act awaits a ruling by the justices on its validity.

Calling the decision "poor law," Bankhead said he had no doubt but that the court also would throw out the cotton act. There was similar fear for survival of the Kerr-Smith tobacco law, the potato control act, and similar farm measures, as well as the more important social security, Guffey coal control and Wagner labor disputes laws.

Justice Roberts held that AAA—as the agricultural adjustment act was called—invaded the "reserved rights of states" and was "beyond the powers delegated to the federal government."

In a vehement dissent, Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo declared that "courts are not the only agency of government that must be assumed to have the capacity to govern."

Important questions went unanswered in the initial confusion surrounding the court's action.

Constitutional Change Urged.
As organized farm leaders proposed amending the constitution, and stock and commodity markets reacted irregularly to the news, there was immediate speculation on the fate of New Deal legislation still to face the court's scrutiny.

What will happen, lawyers wondered, to such measures as the social security, Guffey coal control, Wagner labor disputes, and other laws based on the power of congress to legislate "for the general welfare"—which until today had never been defined or limited by the high tribunal.

Holding that "Justice Story's theory" of this power "is the correct one," Roberts added that "he makes it clear that the powers of taxation and appropriation extend only to matters of national, as distinguished from local welfare."

The court's blow was the second to a major cornerstone of the New Deal.

DEATHS DECREASE

Public Health "Saved 3,164 Lives" in 1935.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of State Public Health Department, estimated yesterday that decreases in deaths from "practically all the diseases amenable to public health" resulted in a "saving of 3,164 lives" in Georgia last year.

He said available statistics for 1935 show decreases in deaths under 1934 figures as follows: All causes 9.9; whooping cough 55.3; typhoid fever 34.7; diphtheria 32; tuberculosis 4.5; malaria 16.2; cancer 6; pellagra 4.3; heart disease 5.5; and pneumonia 8.3.

Infant mortality (deaths of children under one year old) decreased 14.1 per cent from 1934 figures, he said; puerperal deaths decreased 6.7 and stillbirths 9.8.

"We feel that the board can face the new year with considerable pride," he said, reviewing work of his organization.

Month's Quota of Rain, Falling in Six Days, Burdens Chattahoochee

Any January is a wet month in north Georgia, but the first six days of this January has found rain, snow and sleet descending with a vigor that already has given this section just about its normal total rainfall for a normal January. The picture shows a view at the Gordon road bridge, just beyond Adamsville, where approximately

Chattahoochee Near Flood Stage From Abnormal Rains, Ice, Sleet

Six days of snow, sleet and rain in north Georgia have burdened the Chattahoochee river to its limits in accomplishing serious drainage problems, it was revealed yesterday in Atlanta Weather Bureau records and in reports to county officials of damages to bridges in the Fulton county area and the flooding of several regions along the river's banks.

West Point, Ga., which was threatened last Friday when the river rose to 19.4 feet, which was .4 above the flood mark, is threatened again this morning with promises of another rise to at least 18.8 feet as waters sweep down the Chattahoochee after Sunday and Monday rains in the areas about Dahlonega, Gainesville, Norcross, Atlanta and Newnan.

After the rain had ended in Atlanta yesterday morning, Weather Bureau gauges showed that the city has had so far this year an official rainfall of 4.38 inches. The normal rainfall for the whole month of January is 4.88 inches. Atlanta needs only .47 of an inch to give it a normal month's supply, and today the city is only seven days into the month.

Floods were reported to county officials yesterday at the Cherokee road bridge and several other smaller bridges which have been wrecked by the rise of high water in the river. At the Gordon road bridge, just beyond Adamsville, more than 200 acres of land have been flooded. The water is just four feet from the floor of the bridge.

Weather Bureau forecasts are for a cloudy, rainless day together with temperatures starting about the freezing point this morning. The rainstorm which swept over the city Sunday and Monday has veered and swept off toward Kentucky and north Tennessee.

Warmer temperatures are expected during the day. Yesterday's highest temperature was 47 degrees.

The recent ice and rainstorms in north Georgia brought reports yesterday that Dahlonega has recorded 6.03 inches since the first of the year; Gainesville, 5.87; Norcross, 3.60; Newnan, 3.77; and West Point, 4.88. These figures over such an extended area have brought an unusual burden to the Chattahoochee, weather officials said last night, but they add that no rain is in sight today.

Georgia Power Company and Southern Bell Telephone linemen continued yesterday their struggles to clear up the wreckage of the recent storms.

Power company workers have reduced the homes without lights to about 3,000. Telephone problems, however, due to more sensitive and frailer wires, are more serious. Rain Sunday and yesterday brought disaster to 1,200 telephones while linemen during yesterday succeeded in repairing 1,000 lines, leaving them a net repair of only 400 lines.

The heavy rains softened the ground supporting poles which leaned precariously. As a result the poles collapsed. The rain water seeped through tears in insulation and as some cables carry as many as 200 telephone lines, that many telephones would go dead at one break.

"In repairing these cables," Gregory C. Bowden, district manager of the Southern Bell explained yesterday, "each of these 200 phone lines must be connected properly at both ends when new cables are spliced in. It is a slow and difficult process, accom-

MORE RELIEF MONEY SOUGHT FROM FULTON

Growing Needs of Destitute Necessitate Fund Increase, Says Tiller.

Atlanta and Fulton county will be called upon for more relief money during 1936, it was announced yesterday at the reorganization meeting of the Fulton Board of Welfare, where all officers were re-elected.

Growing needs of destitute people will necessitate additional relief money, Chairman J. Sid Tiller said.

The city and county will be asked to raise the amount distributed by the board from $85,000 to $80,000 per month.

At present, the city gives $40,000 a month, and the county contributes $25,000.

Relief cases last month jumped nearly 3,000 persons, according to figures read to the board by Frank Miller, executive secretary of the board.

In November the board was caring for 12,161 persons but in December the number increased to 15,014.

"It is essential that we request the city and county officials to include in the finance appropriations for the new year such amounts as they have heretofore paid plus additional appropriations necessary," Tiller said.

To make up a budget of about $80,000 per month for the department of public welfare, it was stated.

Total expenditures in December amounted to $83,083, which included $7,000 paid the board by the government relief agency headed by Miss Gayton Sherman for caring for unemployed employables, and a part of the board's reserve.

In addition to the regular relief cases, the welfare board provides for 288 children, paying for their upkeep at various homes.

Tiller was named chairman of the board during December to succeed Eugene Harrington, who resigned.

Mayor Key re-elected vice chairman, and Hugh C. Couch was again named secretary.

plished only by constant testing to be certain that the telephone connections are routed through the proper wires.

As a result of the rains, telephone officials said yesterday that according to their best available checks there are still between 3,500 and 4,000 telephones out of order in Atlanta.

Low, marsh land below Augusta was covered with water yesterday after the Savannah river rose to 31 feet, one foot below flood stage, Sunday.

The river dropped to 27.8 yesterday. High water Sunday caused temporary suspension of work on the new lock and dam system on the river near here.

Some other rivers in the state were expected to rise due to rains.

The Flint river was on the rise, but no flood danger was foreseen unless extraordinary rains follow those of today.

The Flint at Montezuma was up to 15.4 this morning. Flood stage is 20.

Macon reported the Ocmulgee river there down two feet, but the Ocmulgee rising steadily at Milledgeville. The Ocmulgee was at 24.4 feet, or two feet above flood stage, at Milledgeville yesterday.

TREE PROTECTION URGED BY YEOMANS

Warning that unless precautions are taken, Georgia's ice-wrecked trees will be damaged further by rot and insects was issued yesterday by State Entomologist Manning Yeomans.

These pests, normally of little importance to sound trees, are quick to gain entrance through such wounds as now are numerous on practically all trees in this vicinity, Yeomans said.

"To prevent such attacks, the principal treatment necessary is the removal of broken branches, the trimming of wounds to a smooth, moisture-shedding surface, and the treatment of these surfaces with some protective coating. If this is done, nature will be able to remedy the damage to a large extent."

Broken limbs or branches should be cut off flush with the trunk or parent limb, so that the bark will be able to grow over the wound and eventually seal it from contamination.

If a stub be left, the bark cannot grow over it; it will die and rot out, leaving a hole that exposes the interior of the wood of the tree to moisture and further rot.

Yeomans suggested ordinary house paint, applied annually, for sealing living wood surfaces.

YEGGS GET $800

Atlanta Business Houses
Raided by Safecrackers.

Safecrackers stole approximately $800 in the two forays on Atlanta business houses, police were informed yesterday. Two safes were cracked in the Abbott Furniture Company store at 207 Marietta street.

One of the furniture company safes was blown open and the other was forced by ripping out the combination. The thugs gained entrance to the building by breaking a rear window. Approximately $800 was taken from the two safes.

More than $500 was stolen from the office of Kingan & Co. at 238 Peters street, by thieves who forced open a large vault and then blew open the smaller safe inside.

JURY RETURNS NO-BILL IN AUTOMOBILE DEATH

A no-bill which charged involuntary manslaughter was returned yesterday by the grand jury in the case of F. G. Akin, whose automobile ran over and killed A. C. Brooks, December 24, at Lucile avenue and Langhorn street.

The jury indicted Akin on two charges of misdemeanor, however, in that he failed to stop and answer questions after the accident and also left the scene.

A 50-pound wooden lard tub was the weapon Clarence Suriths Hill, of 400 1-2 Stonewall street, according to a true bill of indictment against Wood yesterday. He was indicted for assault with intent to murder, and with robbing the Hill woman of $3 on December 22.

Two negroes, Bennis Dixon and Steve Robinson, were named in murder bills. Dixon was accused of stabbing Julius Downer to death New Year's Day and Robinson was charged with shooting Lillie Mae Wills, December 27.

U. S. COURT UPHOLDS
S. C. ELECTRIC LEVY

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 6.—(AP) The United States court of appeals today upheld a 1931 South Carolina law levying a tax of one-half mill per kilowatt hour on electricity produced within the state.

The ruling was on a case brought by the Duke Power Company, contending the act unconstitutional.

Counsel for the power company indicated the case would be carried to the supreme court.

LAWYERS, DOCTORS HIT BY NEW TAXES

Must Pay $15 Occupational Levy; Registration Is Required.

A new group of professional workers will be required to register with the county ordinary and pay a $15 occupational tax this year, it was announced yesterday by Claude Mason, of the ordinary's office.

Those affected will be lawyers, practitioners of medicine, osteopaths, chiropractors, dentists, optometrists, masseurs, public accountants, embalmers and civil, mechanical, hydraulic and electrical engineers who charge fees for their services.

In the tax law passed at the last legislature, it is required that those taxes be paid within 90 days after January 1, and the taxes are now due, Mason said. Every professional in the above classifications must register with the ordinary and pay a fee of $1. Taxes will be paid the tax collector. A 10 per cent penalty is inflicted if taxes are not paid within the prescribed time, while the penalty for non-registration is a misdemeanor sentence.

Ruptured Men Get
$3.50 Truss Free

Pay No Money—Now or Ever, for This Truss.

Kansas City, Mo.—A newer rupture method developed by a doctor is so successful he offers to give every ruptured man or woman who tries it, a $3.50 truss free. It does away with leg straps, elastic belts, binding springs and harsh pads. After using it, many have reported their troubles better. Often in a very short time. Others say they no longer need any support. The method will be sent on 30 days' trial and he will send the $3.50 truss free with it. The method does not help your rupture return it and keep the $3.50 truss for your trouble. If you are ruptured just write E. O. Koch, 1228 Koch Bldg., 2206 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., for his trial offer.—(adv.)

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles who real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this—as internal medicine should be used.

HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs drive salves remove every sufferer in 12 HEM-ROID with guarantee. If money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.—(adv.)

Old Friends of Student Days Meet Again

An interesting event in connection with Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa's visit here occurred yesterday when Hart Sibley, well-known businessman, of Union Point, Ga., met the distinguished Japanese at the luncheon at the Atlanta Biltmore for the first time since Mr. Sibley contributed to his financial aid during his student days at Princeton. Mr. Sibley is shown at left, talking to Dr. Kagawa and Dr. Louie D. Newton.

Right Economy Needed for Peace, Says Japanese in Address Here

By LOUIE D. NEWTON,
Pastor Druid Hills Baptist Church.

"Before we can look for world peace, we must be willing to find the right basis of world economy," said Toyohiko Kagawa, noted Japanese Christian, in his not-so-quiet address to 500 business and professional men gathered at The Atlanta Biltmore Monday afternoon at the luncheon given by the service clubs of Atlanta.

He was speaking on present world conditions and the basis of hope for voluntary co-operation between groups within nations and between the nations.

It was easily one of the most colorful occasions ever held in Atlanta. Seats were limited to 500 persons, composing the membership of the participating clubs and a list of invited guests representing prominent men throughout the state of Georgia.

At one table were seated 12 college presidents, including the president of the University of Georgia System.

Bankers, lawyers, doctors, merchants, manufacturers, railway executives, directors of communication and transportation, clergymen and preachers, farmers and capitalists, representatives of every activity of our common life, flocked together to welcome the distinguished visitor and listen to his interpretation of a somewhat bewildered world that is heroically struggling to find its way to a stable and agreeable plan of life.

E. Ralph Paris, president of the Rotary Club, presided. Presidents of the other clubs were seated at the speaker's table. Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, pronounced the invocation.

Miss Minna Hecker, soprano soloist, sang "The Blue Danube," accompanied by Miss Irene Lefkovich, Kagawa remarked "That is the most beautiful musical offering I have heard in America."

Causes of War.

"There are five causes of war," declared Kagawa, "overpopulation, need of raw materials, international loans, commercial policies and transportation policies. We must be willing to get at the basic causes of war before we talk about disarmament."

There is little hope of solving these vital questions by debating the radius of the armaments race.

"The trouble with the League of Nations is the fact that it is too political in its makeup and approach to these issues. It is not the lack of food and raw products that accounts for international quarrels and suspicion, but bad management in the economic order. Unemployment of millions of people in your own and other nations is the greatest immediate danger in the world. This unemployment reveals an unhealthy condition at the heart of our present world economy."

"With proper co-ordination, based on intelligent and courageous attitude of the strong nations, we can expand normally and naturally, using the billions now going into armaments for the development of our great resources, thus providing a higher standard of living for the masses and a fair and stabilized return for capital. I propose such a course of action as the part of the commercial leaders of the world, and I tell you frankly that the only sound basis for such program is the principle of the Sermon on the Mount."

Japan Friendly to U. S.

Kagawa expressed fear that the American people do not understand the attitude of the Japanese people, due to the fact we do not know their language, do not read their newspapers, magazines and books, and are dependent, therefore, upon such interpretations as may be brought to us from time to time by special interests.

He amazed his hearers when he said 10,000,000 Japanese can speak English and every school child in Japan is required to take eight hours of English per week. They are reading what we say about them, and he expressed the hope we may soon be able to read first hand for ourselves what they are saying about us.

He called attention to the fact the Japanese parliament has recently passed a law forbidding any expressions of bitterness published in Japan toward America. He drew attention to the fact that 99 per cent of the people of Japan are very friendly toward the United States, stating that only a very small percentage of the militarists hold an unfriendly attitude.

"I believe the time will come when we will harness the undeveloped resources of the open seas, making a whole pasture out of the Pacific ocean. One whale represents as much meat as 1,000 hogs. Why should we go to war about pork when we grow all the meat we need in the open seas? Why should we worry about fruits in Japan, where 85 per cent of our land is mountainous and we can plant those mountain slopes with nut-bearing trees? I am advocating that very thing just now with wonderful results. Our agricultural co-operative associations are planting English walnuts and acorns, and I would be glad to see your pecan trees tried in Japan."

"We are now buying much wool from Australia, about four and one-half pounds per person. Our ladies used to wear kimono with big sleeves, but now they find them in the way and our ladies are wearing woolen suits. That means that Australia feels better toward Japan. I hope you are

SERVICES FOR TATUM WILL BE HELD TODAY

City Officials To Form Honorary Escort at Final Rites.

Headed by Mayor Key and members of the city council, high city officials and prominent citizens from all walks of life will pay final tribute at 11:30 o'clock this morning to J. Henson Tatum, city clerk, who died Sunday of burns suffered Saturday in a gas explosion in his home.

The mayor, members of the council and heads of the various city departments will form an honorary escort to the funeral cortege. Pallbearers will be A. W. McClain, M. B. Lester, Charles Ford Jr., R. S. Edwards, J. J. Little and J. L. Richardson.

Former Mayors Walter Sims and L. N. Ragsdale will be included in the escort of honor.

The final rites will be held at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son with Dr. Louie D. Newton and the Rev. Hoke Shidley officiating.

City Leaders Voice Regrets.

The esteem in which Mr. Tatum was held was revealed yesterday as city leaders voiced words of regret at the tragedy and praised the devotion to duty of the explosion victim.

"Mr. Tatum was painstaking, accurate and considerate of all with whom he came in contact," said Mayor Key. "He was a faithful public official and the city will miss his services."

"I am deeply distressed," Mr. Tatum was a devoted official and a warm friend," said Alderman Ed Gilliam, retiring mayor pro tem.

"The city has suffered an irreparable loss," declared Alderman Ellis B. Barrett, new mayor pro tem. "I am deeply grieved and I have lost one of my best friends."

Councilman Max M. Cuba, chairman of the tax committee, which has supervision over the city clerk's office, said: "Mr. Tatum was one of our finest and most loyal department heads and a man thoroughly capable. He was efficient, honest and conscientious."

Council Pays Tribute.

City council yesterday afternoon passed resolutions by unanimous vote regretting Tatum's death and on motion of Councilman Cuba, under which Tatum served, stood silently with heads bowed for two minutes as a mark of respect.

The resolutions were offered by the entire membership of the tax committee, which in addition to Cuba, consisted of Alderman Ed A. Gilliam and Councilmen Aubrey Milam, Thomas C. McLaurin and Frank Wilson.

Tatum's ability, his unswerving loyalty, his tact, and his unblemished integrity were praised in the resolutions, which pointed to the city's loss in his passing.

Joe L. Richardson, Tatum's chief deputy clerk, was designated as acting clerk with all powers, privileges, rights and duties which Tatum exercised. Election of a successor probably will take place at the January 20 meeting of the city council and Richardson yesterday was mentioned prominently as the probable choice of a large majority.

City Hall Flag Lowered.

The flag on the city hall was lowered to half staff yesterday morning and will remain at half staff until after the funeral today. All offices in the city hall will be closed from 11 o'clock this morning until 1:30 o'clock to enable employees to attend the funeral.

The condition of Mrs. Tatum, who was also burned in the explosion, was said to be serious last night at Grady hospital, but she was reported to have spent "a fairly comfortable day."

Mr. and Mrs. Tatum were burned when gas, which is believed to have escaped from the meter, was ignited as Mrs. Tatum switched on the electric light. The couple were saved from almost instant death by prompt action on the part of their two children and a nephew, who extinguished the flames.

COMMONWEALTH CLUB GIVES SURPRISE DINNER

Following the Georgia Commonwealth Club hour last night over station WGST, Wiley L. Moore, speaking on "Problem Facing Georgia Today," a surprise dinner was held in the Ansley hotel restaurant in honor of the speaker.

The dinner was attended by 25 of Mr. Moore's close friends, who paid tribute to his productive work as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce for the last two years.

GEORGIANS' REACTION ON VERDICT IS VARIED

Page Sees Revised Law;
Talmadge Pleased, Camp
Is Displeased.

Georgians of varying political views met the supreme court's action in killing the Agricultural Adjustment Act yesterday with varying comments.

W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue for Georgia, said: "I am confident that the democratic congress will meet the situation with new legislation to aid the farmers."

Governor Talmadge, foe of the New Deal, said:

"The United States is returning to sanity. I congratulate the American people on having a real supreme court."

Lawrence S. Camp, United States district attorney, said:

"The cotton farmers of the south have received their greatest blow."

Talmadge Friend Pleased.

Tom Linder, state commissioner of agriculture and long-time political and personal friend of Governor Talmadge, said:

"It looks like the supreme court has pulled the AAA out by the roots. The old Bankhead law will be next to go, in my opinion."

Comment in any form was withheld by the Georgia Cotton Co-operative Association and the Cotton Manufacturers' Association, of Georgia, yesterday, although representatives of both organizations indicated that some comment would be forthcoming today.

State City Editor, East Point, was represented by I. Carl Miller, executive vice president of the mills, who declared:

"I had expected all along that the AAA would be held unconstitutional. I hope that the action of the supreme court will improve the cotton mill business. The AAA certainly hurt it and there is room plenty for improvement."

Collector Page, a Columbus (Ga.) newspaper publisher who handled President Roosevelt's Georgia campaign four years ago, said that he had no idea what form remedial legislation might take, but that he looked for early action in the present session of congress.

$53,000,000 Collected Here.

Since processing taxes went into effect on August 1, 1933, approximately $53,000,000 has been collected in Georgia, Page said yesterday. Of this, about $34,000,000 came from cotton and the remainder from sugar, wheat, paper and other crops.

What disposition that will be made of funds collected since the processing taxes have been held unconstitutional, he was not sure.

If the taxes have been paid on to the ultimate consumer, it was agreed, the funds will remain with the government.

Producers who can prove that they have absorbed the taxes and passed none of them along to the consumer will be entitled to refund.

The difficulty, it was said, will be the ability of any of these complainants proving that the taxes were not paid by the consumer.

Action along the lines of refund will not be taken by Page's office, however, until definite rulings are handed down from Washington.

To Lose United States Jobs.

With the elimination of the processing taxes, another problem arises in the disposition of the 75 or more employees who have been added to the revenue collector's force to handle this new tax.

Mr. Page said yesterday that if the tax is wiped out, undoubtedly the force will be unaffected, but it may take some time to make refunds and clean up records and by that time congress may have some substitute act which will save the jobs.

The Bankhead act, which Governor Talmadge has attacked in the United States Supreme Court, was unaffected by the supreme court's decision yesterday, but it is assumed that the Bankhead act's death will follow shortly, as it was a supplementary law passed to bolster the AAA. The Bankhead act provided for excessive processing taxes wherever farmers raised more cotton than government allotments called for. The idea of the act was to make it unprofitable for the farmer to produce a heavier crop than was allotted to him.

Disposal of the money held in federal courts through injunction suits is outside of Collector Page's jurisdiction but he said yesterday that he was of the opinion that these funds would be returned to litigants as soon as official notice was received from Washington that the AAA has been declared unconstitutional. Practically all these suits were filed in the middle district court in Macon.

Tax Absorption Proof Necessary.

Applications that are to be filed with his office showing return of any taxes that have been paid, Page said yesterday as his only definite statement, must be accompanied by positive proof that the processor and not the consumer absorbed the tax.

Governor Talmadge, who extended his "congratulations to the American people" yesterday, has been pressing a suit in the name of the State of Georgia seeking to invalidate the Bankhead cotton control act. The case was taken directly to the supreme court and has been pending there for several months. The action was based on objections to the taxing tax on cotton grown on state-owned farms above the Bankhead act allotments.

Talmadge Suit Not Affected.

Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder yesterday said that the AAA would have "no immediate effect" on the petition of Governor Talmadge and other farmers of the state who challenged the act.

"While I think the decision in the AAA case will knock the Bankhead act higher than a kite, the decision does not have a direct effect at this time," the commissioner added.

"The supreme court will act later on the Bankhead case."

Friend of Administration Displeased.

Agreed with this opinion that the effects of the two acts are not united in effect. It was agreed yesterday that the death of the AAA meant that the Bankhead act until congress can find some means of rendering New Deal legislation constitutional.

United States Attorney Lawrence S. Camp said:

"This is a terrific blow that has been dealt to the southern farmer, but I have enough confidence in President Roosevelt to believe that he will evolve some plan at the present session that will make it unnecessary for the farmer to return to a previous state of what was almost destitution."

"In view of the opinion of the AAA, I can't see how the Bankhead act can meet any other fate in the supreme court. Congress will, I am sure, find some way to accomplish the benefits which these acts were bringing to the farmers for the first time in American history."

Must Pay for 1935 Crops.

Harry Brown, director of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, said that he believed the government would be obliged to make rental and benefit payments to farmers through the 1935 crops with the possible exception of wheat, which is not harvested until spring.

He predicted the 1935 totals would run about the same as 1934, when the last three months are in the hands of the state association in that city May 13 and 14 and go over legislation relating to pharmacy proposed in congress.

INSANE WOMAN ADMITS DROWNING OF INFANT

Afflicted Person Laughs As She Tells of Slaying Baby Boy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—(UP)—An insane woman laughed wildly today as she told how she pushed a 10-month-old boy into the East river and then started out to kill every other infant she could find in the teeming streets of the ghetto.

Mrs. Gussie Friedman, 45, who has been treated in psychopathic hospitals for 20 years, admitted after almost 24 hours of questioning that she wheeled Jackie Horowitz down to the East river in his baby carriage and dumped him into the icy water.

"Why did you push the baby into the river?" asked Detective Hugh Bambrick.

Mrs. Friedman laughed shrilly and replied:

"He tried to throw me in, that's the reason."

It was only by accident that Mrs. Friedman did not kill another child. She was pushing 3-year-old Doris Maslin toward the East river when she was captured.

Three hundred police who have been searching for the Horowitz baby since yesterday afternoon, immediately began dragging the East river to try and recover the body.

Mrs. Friedman, who spent the night in Bellevue hospital, seemed to enjoy the publicity she was getting when she was taken back to Clinton Street police station today. Previously she had replied to all questions with her eerie laugh, occasionally muttering something about "9 o'clock."

Today there walked into the Clinton station Mrs. Amelia Presler, who lives on Gouverneur street—the place where Jackie Horowitz was left in his carriage just before he disappeared.

Mrs. Presler pointed her finger at Mrs. Friedman and shouted: "You're the woman I saw putting her hand into the baby carriage."

"Is that so?" cackled Mrs. Friedman.

"Yes, and you took the baby."

Mrs. Friedman laughed and turned away.

Mrs. Presler said she saw Mrs. Friedman hovering over the carriage of the Horowitz baby.

"Then my dinner started to burn," she said, "and I had to go back to the kitchen. When I got back to the window the carriage and the baby were gone."

Police still were undecided what to do with Mrs. Friedman. She has records at several hospitals for the insane in and around New York.

CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE TOSSED INTO CAMPAIGN

Labor Federation Head Disappointed by AAA Decision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(UP)—The question of constitutional amendment was projected into the presidential campaign today by the supreme court decision.

Unless Congress and the New Deal find a way within the decision to pursue the same objectives, there are indications pressure would be organized behind a move to amend federal authority over farm surplus problems in the fundamental character.

Prolonged Session. The legislative session was expected to be prolonged two months or more by revival of the post-war farm relief legislation. This would carry over the major party conventions in June.

There was attempt to have an amendment submitted to the states. The scope of the decision, like that on NRA, generally was considered a little bit of an authority over farm surplus problems in the fundamental character.

Since NRA issued, organized labor has pressed for constitutional reform in the interest of minimum wages and maximum working hours.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said tonight "the necessity for an amendment seemed to become more apparent."

"We had very sincerely hoped that the AAA would be sustained," Green told reporters.

"We are disappointed to a great extent with the decision. We firmly believe that the chaffy, social, economic, railroad retirement and Wagner labor disputes act will be held valid. We do not believe the decision in any way affects the validity of these measures."

Whether it would help or hurt Roosevelt in the long run was disputed. Representative McCormack, democrat, Massachusetts, an AAA opponent, indicated he believed it was "a break" for the administration. Republican leaders contended it was a forerunner of more adverse decisions, prejudging reputation of the New Deal as "un-American" in November.

SEVEN DEATHS LISTED IN MASS. FIRE

WESTFIELD, Mass., Jan. 6.—(UP)—The death toll of the fire that destroyed the Van Deusen inn last night was definitely set at 7 today, with no known missing and one person in critical condition.

The revised death list is:

Miss M. Grace Fickett, member of the teaching staff of the Westfield State Teachers' College.

Mrs. Minnie C. Jones, 64, widow of Dr. George C. Jones.

Henry Van Deusen, 18, son of Spencer Van Deusen, owner of the inn.

Miss Natalie Jones, matron of the inn.

George Alexander, 69, insurance man, father of Mrs. Spencer Van Deusen.

Miss Bessie Malone.

Gildo Berardino.

Spencer Van Deusen, 45, is on the danger list in the hospital, where six other persons also were taken for treatment of burns which were not considered serious.

Heiress Sues Mother for $500,000, Charging Sterilization Operation

Sued by Daughter

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—(UP)—A timid, nervous young heiress, Ann Cooper Hewitt, accused her socially prominent mother today of duping her into a sterilization operation that tightened the mother's hold on her daughter's income from a $10,000,000 trust fund.

The 21-year-old heiress filed a $500,000 damage suit against her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Hewitt McCarter, at various times the wife of five prominent men.

Attorneys for the girl said a separate suit would ask for an accounting of funds from the trust.

In the suit the girl, brown-eyed daughter of Peter George Hewitt, who died in 1921 after amassing a fortune by his inventions, charged she had been forced into a closely guarded life of ignorance and abuse while the mother squandered thousands in gambling resorts the world around.

The alleged operation to deprive her of motherhood was performed 11 months before her twenty-first birthday. The suit named Mrs. Tilton E. Tillman and Samuel G. Boyd, of San Francisco, as the surgeons. It said the heiress thought she was undergoing an appendectomy.

"I never had any boy friends," the girl said today as she sat with her attorney, Russell P. Tyler. "I was kept shut up at home. I never had any friends."

The surgeons said the operation was performed August 18, 1934, upon Mrs. McCarter's orders after the daughter had been found "feeble-minded with the mentality of a child of 11 years."

The girl was feeble-minded and I advocated the operation because of her feeble-mindedness," Dr. Tilton said. He explained a psychiatrist, Mrs. Mary S. Scully, had examined the young heiress and had given "a mental rating of 11 years."

Dr. Boyd said he aided in the operation after seeing the mental papers. Both surgeons and Mrs. McCarter in the suit.

The girl now is getting the income from her two-thirds of the trust fund, her attorney said.

Miss Hewitt, whose ancestry includes an early day mayor of New York, charged the operation was a deliberate "assault" made less than a year before she would have been free to marry.

The trust fund was set up by the girl's father. Under it, a child of Miss Hewitt's marriage would receive the fund's income upon her death. The share would go to her mother, Mrs. McCarter, if the daughter died childless.

Dr. Pedar Brugiere was Mrs. McCarter's first husband. They were divorced and she wed Stewart Denning, New York broker. The union was annulled. Then she married Hewitt. Her fourth husband was Baron D'Eranger, a Frenchman. Later she married George W. C. McCarter, an attorney, from whom she subsequently was divorced.

Miss Hewitt is with friends here and her mother is believed to be in New York.

The hand holding a cigarette shook a little as the girl faced cameras and interviewers today.

"My mother never liked me," she said.

"She would drink all night, drag me out of bed at 4 in the morning and tell me if I'd die she would have my money."

She asserted her mother had threatened to put her in an insane asylum, and "worse."

Up to Republicans. Representative Fish, republican, New York: "Up to the republican party to write a sound agricultural program."

Speaker Byrnes: "It will be the intent and desire of congress to preserve the law as far as can be done under the constitution. It has been one of the most helpful ever enacted for the farmers."

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York: "Very pleasing to me."

Senator Russell, democrat, Georgia: "It means congress will be here two months longer trying to figure out a way to pay the contracts."

Representative Snell, republican, New York, the republican leader: "Nothing to say at this time."

Representative Bankhead, the democrat leader: "Distressing and disappointing to those of us who supported the AAA legislation."

Representative Hope, democrat, Kansas: "Difficult to find in my judgment to find a substitute which will be as fair and effective means of raising funds for benefit payments under the AAA."

Representative Treadway, republican, Massachusetts: "Blame still rests squarely with the administration for this and other unconstitutional legislation."

Tugwell Silent. Rexford G. Tugwell, national resettlement administrator, declined to make any comment on the supreme court decision declaring the "triple A" program unconstitutional.

"I personally believe that much can be done by voluntary action on the part of the farmers themselves. Based on the Vinton plan, this has been made," he said. "Of course, we all know that dissenting minorities present difficulties, but there are many ways of going about doing a thing."

Edward R. Hale, Hoosac Mills Counsel: "The decision gives assurance to the constitutional government is to continue."

Butler Pleased. Former United States Senator William Morgan Butler, receiver for the Hoosac Mills: "I am much pleased with the outcome of the case."

Butler, who was campaign manager for President Coolidge in 1924, said: "The court's ruling is a step that will further hasten stabilization of the industry. It marks the end of an iniquitous sales tax on the basic necessities of life, an elaborate soak-the-poor tax."

Buddy Rogers To Play Mosque Dance Tonight

When Buddy Rogers, nationally famous band leader, movie, stage and radio star, arrives in Atlanta today to play for the big dance and concert at the Shrine mosque tonight he may be a disappointed young man. Buddy's net ambition is to break 80 at golf, and like all the golfers in the country he would like to play East Lake, home course of champions, if the weather permits.

This will be Buddy's first personal appearance in Atlanta. He is on his way to play at the Roney-Plaza in Miami, having just concluded a successful season at the College Inn in Chicago. The Junior Chamber of Commerce arranged to have him stop off here with his 16-piece orchestra, the California Cavaliers, to play for the concert and dance at the mosque. Proceeds from the dance will be used to send a delegation from the Junior Chamber to the national convention of Junior Chambers in Memphis this year, to do their best to boost Atlanta.

Unlike most stars Buddy likes to be asked for his autograph. He frankly admits it flatters him. Buddy has just completed a new picture, "Take a Chance," which was made in New York while he was playing in Chicago and it took some hustling to commute between those two villages.

Dancing will last from 9:30 to 1:30 o'clock tonight and there will be seats for those who wish merely to listen.

4 Injured in Crash. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 6.—(UP)—Four residents of Memphis, Tenn., were injured here about 8 a. m. today when their automobile collided with a street car. Marvin McCormick, 31, suffered severe injuries to his chest and ribs. His brother, Red, 31, suffered cuts and bruises, as did Raymond Byrd, 31, and J. B. Gross, 28. The automobile was demolished.

ETHIOPIANS ROTTED BY ITALIANS IN SOUTH

Battle Marks Change of Fascist Troops to Offensive Movement.

DOLO, Ethiopia, Jan. 6.—(UP)—Italy's southern army, returning an offensive, routed the Ethiopians in a bitter jungle battle in which 150 Ethiopians were believed killed and one white Italian soldier was slain.

The hand-to-hand clash occurred in the dense undergrowth 35 miles north of Dolo—near Areri in the valley of the Ganale Dorya river.

Military observers pointed out the battle was significant because it marked an Italian shift from defensive warfare in this region to an offensive movement in which the fascists leaders sought to determine the strength of the enemy.

An Italian officer declared: "We are now prepared to drive forward upon Ras Desta Demu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, is the strongest of the Italians learned, and holds the heart of the Italian army. The fascists also have located the right Ethiopian column, which is in the valley of the Gostro river."

(Dolo, on the border between Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland.)

An Italian tank which had been unable to operate in a sandy area was seized by Ethiopian snipers but fascist reinforcements rescued the tank after a wild counter-attack.

Italian armored cars and machine guns were rushed forward to hurl back the Ethiopians.

'Stars Over Broadway' Opens at Paramount

Radio stars in Hollywood aren't doing so badly. If the work of Jane Froman, James Melton and "Stars Over Broadway," current attraction at the Paramount theater, is a fair example.

The two furnish swell music which makes the histrionic ability of Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh and Jean Muir more entertaining. Something like eggs complementing ham, if the comparison is not too odious.

The picture is billed as being a year ahead of its time and, to prove it, one scene depicts the night of the world's heavyweight championship battle between Joe Louis and Jimmy Braddock, but even with the Brown Bomber, now called time greatest since Jack Dempsey, the winner of the fight is not predicted.

Incidentally, Jack Dempsey is really in the show. He plays the part of a restaurant owner, which he is, and so doesn't do any worse than you would expect.

Frank Fay, the one true Broadway star in the flicker, has a minor role as "Stars Over Broadway" and he extracts every particle of humor that's in it, which is not much. Fay handles any part cleverly and far more capably than his employers ever give him credit or pay for. He is, or was, the husband of Barbara Stanwyck.

All in all, "Stars Over Broadway" is an amusing, sprightly musical comedy that has a fresh atmosphere about it, mostly due to good camera work. It moves rapidly, thanks to the direction of someone whose name skips across the screen for four or five writers, according to the billing, but you know what half a dozen chefs can do to the well known soup.

James Melton's voice is splendid and he sings operatic selections with aplomb. Miss Froman's solos are excellent too.

A colored cartoon and shorts complete the program. —F. D.

Cobb Says: Think About These Things

By IRVIN S. COBB. (Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

WESTWOOD, Cal., Jan. 6.—For our lawlessness we're forever blaming hot-headedness, the innate hot temper of the races behind us. But did you ever notice this? Members of those identical breeds somehow manage to control their homicidal impulses better in countries where cold-blooded murder means the rope within four weeks, as in Canada; manage to be more honest in countries where deliberate felony means a full term at hard labor, as in Great Britain; or where the run of crimes means stern confinement in real prisons, as in various Scandinavian and Teutonic countries.

And did it ever occur to you that the proverbial mush-headed sentimentality of American Jurists—and overly sympathetic judges and delayed trials, and prolonged appeals and reversals on trivial technicalities, and postponement of punishment through legal devices; and publicity-seeking governors, and crooked lawyers in cahoots with known criminals; and perjurers, mills, and wardens who think penitentiaries should be playhouses for coddling naughty boys and girls; and, most of all, the prospect of quick release for chronic offenders, regardless of what outraged prosecutors or thwarted police authorities may think about it—might have been a factor? Before we diagnose the fruitage, let's analyze the seeds.

The 1936 edition of the Almanac, established 139 years ago by John Gruber, made these holiday predictions:

February and March will be rough and cold.

"Keep a stiff upper lip," the Almanac advised, "but don't let it interfere with your smiling."

MIAMI CHURCH SOLD UNDER FORECLOSURE

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—(UP)—The First Baptist church building in downtown Miami (northeast First street and Fifth street) today was sold at the courthouse door to bondholders for $40,000 under a recent $350,000 foreclosure decree.

Bondholders' representatives said they expected to obtain possession in five days, at which time negotiations would be opened with church officials with a view to their re-buying the structure.

DECATUR COMMISSION REAPPOINTS OFFICIALS

Heads of All Departments Retained; Bond Meeting Tomorrow.

The heads of all city departments of the Decatur city government, as nominated by City Manager A. F. Newman, were reappointed at an organization meeting held last night in the city hall and a special meeting to be held tomorrow night at 6 o'clock was scheduled at which time date of a special election will be set for another bond vote.

Scott Candler was appointed chairman of the city commission last night and H. F. George was named vice chairman.

The recommendations of City Manager Newman approved by the city commission included the following appointments:

Mrs. Mortie H. Christian, city clerk; W. H. Weaver, city engineer; George S. Swartz, chief of police; L. W. Morgan, chief of the fire department; Hugh Burgess, city attorney; Dr. Homer Allen, city physician; Dr. C. C. VonGrenp, city health officer and Professor D. Y. Brannock, city bacteriologist.

S. R. Christie Jr. was named to succeed himself as chairman of the tax assessors board, and other board members were William Alden and John F. Ridley.

In a statement issued yesterday Candler explained that the court order issued by Judge James C. Davis on Saturday declaring the recent bond election null and void was done at the request of the city government to immediately pave the way for another election.

"We realized that the manner in which the tax assessments were raised was irregular but we were seeking to avail ourselves of $140,000 which we understood would be available only a short time from the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works."

"The commission feels that it is of vital importance to the city that advantage be taken of the situation. They also know that it would be impossible to obtain the sum as long as there was any kind of litigation and for that reason the court was asked to declare the bond vote null and void to clear the way for an immediate new vote."

1 KILLED, STORE BURNS AS TRUCK HITS POLE

HAMLET, N. C., Jan. 6.—(UP)—One person was killed, a store building was burned down and a dwelling set afire near the outskirts of Hamlet today when a gasoline tank truck struck a high tension wire pole and exploded.

Burk Lucas, 23, of Currie, N. C., driver of the truck, was burned beyond recognition. He was identified four hours later by his employers and relatives.

Lucas is survived by his parents, one brother and several sisters.

DEPRESSION IS OVER, KEY TELLS '36 COUNCIL

normally without the services of that official.

Mr. Tatum could speak to us tonight and say that the depression is over. "I don't want to do that, but we should adjourn this meeting to later in the week. Tatum would say: 'The public business goes on.' That's the kind of a man he was."

Councilman John M. Owen and Alderman Gilliam were elected as members of the budget commission for 1936. Owen was re-elected and Councilman Max M. Cuba, who served as a member in 1935, declined to allow his name to be presented for a new term.

As Key came into the council chamber, the police and firemen's bands struck up "The Last Round-Up." This was the last year of Key's present term. Red carnations were distributed to members of city council by Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee.

Mayor Key's Address.

The last major act of the 1935 city council was to sidestep again a record vote on the proposal to request the Fulton county democratic executive committee to seek a county-wide referendum on merger of Atlanta and Fulton county governments when the date for the county's March primary is not too far off.

Mayor Pro Tem. Ed A. Gilliam ruled that the measure must be taken to the charter revision committee for a public hearing before it would be "properly" before council for action. Councilman Alvin L. Richards, principal merger proponent, attempted to override the chair's ruling. He was defeated 24 to 12 against him.

L. Glenn Dewberry, veteran superintendent of public buildings, and O. H. Williams, Jr., Dewberry's assistant in charge of the auditorium armory, were re-elected to new four-year terms as the first business of the new council.

Mayor Pro Tem. Barrett.

Provisional Mayor Pro Tem. Ellis B. Barrett was elevated to the post of mayor pro tem by the council. He was elected to the rank of alderman, and Glen H. Dewberry, ninth ward alderman, was elected to succeed Barrett, who is the thirteenth ward alderman and who will preside over council for 1936.

Barrett was presented a beautiful basket of flowers from "a friend," and the "Joy" class of the Western Heights Baptist church, Sunday school, where Barrett taught for a number of years, presented a large box of flowers. The new mayor pro tem, Barrett, is a native of Georgia, and a member of the Morningstar Baptist church, as chaplain of council for the new year.

With the reorganization last night, the present setup of the municipal government began its last year. Beginning next year, the council will be reduced from 18 to 12 members, one of 18, and the city wards will be cut from 13 to 6.

This year also will be a history making one for the city. The council members of the board of education and several major department heads will be reduced from a body of 18 to 12. It will be a banner political year in city circles.

Appointments Ratified.

Key's appointment of Samuel O. Dobbs, chairman of the Grady hospital board of trustees, and Arthur L. Harris and Mayor Barrett as members of the board, to new two-year terms were ratified by the council and their terms became effective immediately.

Only minor changes in the standing committees were registered in the new assignments, which the mayor made, with, of course, the single exception of the police committee.

Alderman Farris A. Mitchell and Councilman George B. Lyle and Howard Haire, on that committee, were replaced by Alderman Mitchell and Councilman Couch, fifth, and Horace M. Rantin, twelfth. Only G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the committee for the past four years, and Councilman Alvin L. Richards, thirteenth, were returned as members of the police committee.

New Chairmen.

Chairmanships of only four committees were changed as follows: Alderman Haire was succeeded as chairman of the ordinance committee by Councilman Couch; Councilman Raleigh Drennon was elected chairman of the finance and insurance and printing committee and Haire substituted; Councilman Couch was shifted from the head of the Battle Hill sanitation committee; and Alderman Thomas C. McLaughlin given that post, and Councilman Haire was relieved as chairman of the boxing commission and Councilman C. W. Hester named as his successor.

Due to Roosevelt.

"Much of this has been due to the far-sighted vision, the courage and the leadership of Franklin Delano Roosevelt," the President of the United States, when he came into office, the country faced chaos: today the end of the depression is in sight and normal conditions are rapidly returning.

"Of course much of that has been due to the fact that we have had criticism at all times and we have not been patient with those who content themselves with criticism and fault-finding, who have no substitute to offer, and who are in distress and who have a right to look to me for aid."

"Criticism is all right, but criticism does not feed the hungry nor clothe the naked, nor house the homeless."

"Our great leader has been a man for whom the world has hungered for centuries and the storm of criticism has been heaped upon him by the greedy and selfish and by those who are in their pay, will abate and leave him undaunted, unafraid and triumphant."

Other Recommendations.

Among other major matters touched on in the Key address were the following:

1. Commended to the careful consideration of council his proposal to establish municipally-operated liquor dispensaries to get a profit of at least $1,000,000 a year.

2. Recommended that the city establish municipally-operated liquor dispensaries to get a profit of at least $1,000,000 a year.

Text of Mayor Key's Speech Before Reorganized Council

Mayor Key's address to city council as that body reorganized last night for 1936 follows:

Gentlemen:

We enter upon the business of the city for the year 1936 with a feeling of hope and optimism which comes from improvements in business and industry on every hand, from a returning market for property and from a largely increased employment for our people.

The mounting bank deposits, liberality of credits and reduction in interest charges, all of which indicate that we are recovering rapidly from the depression and that a momentum has been taken in business and industry on all sides which will enable it to carry on, regardless of whether federal aid is continued or not, in the future, I feel that we can safely say for 1936, and for the years to come, that we have seen the end of the depression.

Much of this has been due to the far-sighted vision, the courage and the leadership of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, the President of the United States. Three years ago, when he came into office, the country faced chaos; today the end of the depression is in sight and normal conditions are rapidly returning.

Of course much of that has been due to the fact that we have had criticism at all times and we have not been patient with those who content themselves with criticism and fault-finding, who have no substitute to offer, and who are in distress and who have a right to look to me for aid.

"Criticism is all right, but criticism does not feed the hungry nor clothe the naked, nor house the homeless."

"Our great leader has been a man for whom the world has hungered for centuries and the storm of criticism has been heaped upon him by the greedy and selfish and by those who are in their pay, will abate and leave him undaunted, unafraid and triumphant."

Other Recommendations.

Among other major matters touched on in the Key address were the following:

1. Commended to the careful consideration of council his proposal to establish municipally-operated liquor dispensaries to get a profit of at least $1,000,000 a year.

theory that the properties would prove to be self-liquidating, except for taxes. The city was willing to make a contribution of the amount of taxes on the property for the purpose of owning the property, if the receipts of the property, otherwise, would discharge all other indebtedness. The city was not to assume any additional obligation and was not to pay additional sums on any account. The taxes for the year 1935 were to be paid out of the receipts of the property, and up to the present time there is no loss on any account, with respect to this property.

MOSQUE DEAL TO SHOW DEFICIT.

With the experience which we have had with this property for several months and knowing now definitely what the revenues will be for the year, we can state that the receipts will be for the present year, the properties will show a deficit of $30,000 in round figures for the year 1935. The deficit on this property amounts to approximately $30,000.

I would regret to see the city of Atlanta lose this valuable property, but the city does not lose the property; the property is here and will not be removed. It should be expected that the city would liquidate this property and the taxes on the property which it would lose. That is not asking much, for wherever the city might own an auditorium it would not collect taxes on it.

My recommendation is that before January 31, this year, which date is the taxing period of the city, unless the city receives a proposition from the bondholders and underwriters so as to make this property self-liquidating, that the city should turn the property back to the bondholders and let them show the deficit with it as any other privately owned property in the city.

The city and county have with the city the property of the city, and the city does not lose the property; the property is here and will not be removed. It should be expected that the city would liquidate this property and the taxes on the property which it would lose. That is not asking much, for wherever the city might own an auditorium it would not collect taxes on it.

Alliance Francaise Plans Dinner Party For January 9

Members of the Alliance Francaise are invited to a dinner-party at the Piedmont Driving Club Tuesday evening, January 9, at 7 o'clock. This is the annual New Year's celebration of the alliance postponed from New Year's Day on account of the ice storm. The original program will be followed. There will be an orchestra and dancing and singing of old French songs of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries with the entire membership joining in the refrains. Charles Lordans, president of Alliance Francaise, who has just returned from a vacation of several months in France, will be toastmaster for the occasion.

Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Joe Brown, Hemlock 1701-R, or Miss M. Groleau, Hemlock 0491-J. The committee on hospitality requests reservations for members and friends of the alliance to be made immediately. Officers of the Alliance Francaise are: President, Charles Lordans; vice presidents, Mesdames John M. Slaton, Harry M. Atkinson, Edgar Lecky, Hal Davison; treasurer, Miss M. Groleau; recording secretary, Mrs. J. O. Sanders; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joe Brown.

Miss Everett

Cardui

Helped Three Times

At three different times, Cardui has helped Mrs. Ike Wright, of Sealy, Texas. "I used Cardui, when a girl, for cramps, and it helped then," she writes. Next, after marriage, she reports having taken Cardui when she felt weak, nervous and restless before her children were born.

And during middle life, it helped her again. "I was miserable," she explains. "I did not have an appetite. I was very blue and upset. I remembered Cardui had helped me, so I took it again and soon began to pick up. I ate and had more strength. I kept up the Cardui and did not have any more trouble. Is it any wonder that I recommend Cardui to all my friends?"

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—(ad.)

Candy Pineapple Adorns Table At Luncheon Given for Debutantes

By Sally Forth.

EVERYBODY looks for Mrs. Carl Lewis to plan original decorations for her parties and she seldom disappoints her friends. Thereby hangs a tale. She gave a luncheon last week for Rebecca Young, Judy Beers and Frances Lyle, a bevy of debutantes.

Toothpicks, decorated with varicolored candy gumdrops, were stuck in a big apple and shaped up to resemble a pineapple. Green pine needles frosted in silver arose from the center of the pineapple to give it an artistic effect. Mrs. Lewis made nosegays of varicolored candy gumdrops, encased each one in a silver holder, and tied the bouquets with silver ribbon.

She encircled the pineapple with the pretty nosegays and the effect was original and very effective. Mrs. Lewis presented her guests, 12 in number, with a candy bouquet as a memento of the event.

A YOUNG man retired behind the scenes several days ago to obtain the autograph of a prominent dancer. The artist was quite gracious and pleasant, and immediately granted his request. As she was leaving her room, he asked if he might escort her to her car. Again she graciously assented, and he did so. Imagine his embarrassment when upon assisting her into the waiting car, he fell for her harder than he'd ever fallen before—and with his nose on the icy pavement, at that!

DOWN in Havana, Cuba, on New Year's Day, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Hedges kept open house at Cayo La Rosa in Hoyo Colorado in compliment to a trio of Atlanta visitors, Dr. and Mrs. George Brown and their son, Melville Brown, who spent the holidays there with Mr. and Mrs. Burke Hedges, the latter being the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Brown.

It is an annual custom with the hosts, it seems, to receive their friends on New Year's afternoon, and 300 members of society from Havana and from the interior of the island enjoyed their hospitality. Tea was served on the terrace, and was supplemented, according to the Havana Post, with the Hedges' famous eggnog.

Other visitors who were honored guests with the Atlantans included Colonel and Mrs. Walter Mendels, of St. Petersburg, parents of Mrs. James Hedges, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Mendels, also of St. Petersburg. Among the prominent guests who called to greet them were United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, Commercial Attache Walter Donnelly, Ellis O. Briggs, second secretary of the embassy; Mrs. Briggs, and members of the United States consulate.

NEXT time you eat those tempting little appetizers known as hors d'oeuvres the following story may serve to recall to mind the very apropos saying that "all that glitters is not gold." It was on Sunday evening and Betty Cole was entertaining a group of friends at her Peachtree circle home for Earl Blackwell and his guest, Glen Boles, from Hollywood, Cal.

The refreshments were all that could be desired—prepared beautifully and tastefully. One platter of hors d'oeuvres were particularly delectable and the guests were quick to inquire "the kind," but Betty was mysterious to the limit and only revealed that they were her "specials."

At the end of the evening a messenger boy arrived with a small box for Earl, Glen and the latter's sister, Mary, and which bore the following tag:

"This is to certify that Mary, Glen and John have just eaten rattlesnake meat and are now full-fledged members of the black diamond rattlesnake club." And then as a further proof of the fact it revealed the "specials" food. Just remember you ate it and said it was good. —In case

Lawrence Camp Will Address Fifth District P.-T. A.

Later, when with the car well loaded they drove down to the shipyard, Genevieve closed the glass panel between them and the chauffeur, as though she were about to say something confidential; but she did not speak and at last Kay asked: "Did you want to say something to me?"

"No," Genevieve decided hesitantly. "I know what you're thinking," Kay confessed. "You're wondering why I."

Genevieve eyed her shrewdly. "What did Prita say to you?" she challenged, and Kay nodded, her cheeks white with anger.

"That's the reason," she agreed. "She said—that everyone must be thinking, I suppose. Oh, in very polite terms, of course; but explicit enough for all practical purposes." Her head was high. "I won't ever let her have him, now," she whispered defiantly.

"That's the reason," she agreed.

"You think I ought to be a nice little girl and let him go?" Kay demanded resentfully; and Genevieve laughed suddenly, and touched her hand.

The DEBUNKER

THERE WAS NO SUCH PLACE

The famous "Battle of Bunker Hill" was fought on Breeds Hill, just outside of Boston. Here a few men of courage withstood two fierce attacks of the British on June 17, 1775. The British attacked a third time upon Breeds Hill, and this time dislodged

The Americans took the hill. However, the losses to the British were about a thousand men, including 80 officers. This battle encouraged the American men so much that they continued their fight for freedom. In 1843 a marble monument 221 feet high was erected on Breeds Hill to commemorate the occasion and Daniel Webster delivered the main address. The hill has for many years been called "Bunker Hill" which is the name of another hill nearby.

—but some believed it must be round. During an eclipse of the moon, they saw the curved shadow and they figured that it was caused by the earth getting in the way of the sun's light.

The Greeks who went to live in Alexandria, were in many cases, very smart men. Some studied the stars and found the different "angles" of their positions in different seasons of the year. Eratosthenes earned his Eratosthenes had learned of a town called Syene where there were no shadows at noon on the day of the summer solstice (about June 21, by our calendar). Syene was said to be 5,000 stadia (about 500 miles) south of Alexandria.

With those things in mind, the Greek found out the length of a shadow cast by an object of a certain height on the day of a summer solstice.

That was very close to the truth. At the present time, the circumference of the earth at the equator is known very closely, and is given as 24,930 miles.

Mrs. Pauline Dillon will be grand installing officer, with Mrs. Lucy Power as grand conductor. Mrs. Genevieve Andrews as grand marshal; Mrs. LeVert Mitchell, grand soloist; Mrs. Dora Hamilton, grand organist, and Mrs. Ola Anderson, grand secretary.

Officers to be installed are Mrs. Jennie Vrono, worthy matron; E. E. Aiken, worthy patron; Mrs. Irene Spurlin, associate matron; Raymond McLeroy, associate patron; Arthur Spurlin, secretary; Mrs. Bessie Greenoe, treasurer; Mrs. Bertha Hood, conductress; Mrs. Maude Burnett, associate conductress; Mrs. Lillian Cowden, chaplain; Mrs. Daisy Holden, marshal; Miss Louise Aldridge, organist; Mrs. Elizabeth Triffitt, Ada; Mrs. Hughie Berry, Ruth; Mrs. Mary Lou Spurlin, Esther; Mrs. Carrie Bostwick, Martha; Mrs. Inez Hudson, Electa; Mrs. Ola S. Anderson, warder, and John Tuggle, sentinel. Invitation is extended to the members of Cascade Masonic lodge and their families.

For Mrs. Wright And Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Robert C. Mitchell entertained at an exquisitely appointed luncheon yesterday at the Capital City Club as a complimentary gesture to Mrs. Ed Wright and Mrs. Frank Mitchell Jr., whose marriages were brilliant events of the autumn. Pink roses and ferns filled the blue bowl adorning the center of the table, and silver candlesticks held light blue tapers.

Invited to meet the honor guests were Mesdames Wright Mitchell Jr., H. W. Beers Jr., Nevill Reid, William Davies Owens, John Boman, Irving Graham, Frank Mitchell Sr., Frank Dean, Ewing Dean, Misses Dorothy Shivers, Eloise Graham, Judy Beers, Jane Adair, Ellen Rhodes and Marion Dean.

Gladiolus Society Will Be Formed.

Those interested in the organization of a Georgia Gladiolus Society are invited to attend the organization meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Garden Center. Mrs. Willard R. Leach will preside and Mrs. R. L. Cooney requests that one representative from each Atlanta garden club be present.

John A. Ford, a member of the Gladiolus Society of America; Mrs. E. P. Cronshaw and Mrs. Frederick Winship Cole, who are expert gladiolus culturists, will give the benefit of their experience and knowledge. This meeting was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Willard R. Leach on December 28 but was postponed on account of the weather.

Padgett-Worley.

BAXLEY, Ga., Jan. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Worley, of Alma, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lucille, to Clinton C. Padgett, county school superintendent of Appling county, Baxley, Ga., on Christmas Day in the office of Mr. Padgett in Baxley.

Rev. Walter B. Feagins, pastor of First Baptist church, Baxley, officiated in the presence of a few close friends.

Mrs. Padgett is a graduate of Syracuse high school in the class of 1928 and was a student at Syracuse while Mr. Padgett was superintendent of the school. The couple is at home three miles southwest of Baxley at the Padgett country home.

Wesleyan Alumnae.

Mrs. Carter Paden was hostess to Group 4 of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Association on Saturday. The subject for the program was "Women in Interior Decorating" and Mrs. Mary Miller, Atlanta decorator, was guest speaker.

Present were Misses Lucy Christian, Margaret Richards, Mesdames Henry Smart, Marvin Roberts, A. Worth Hobby, A. M. Roan, D. W. Clayton, Kirk Jones, Carter Paden and M. H. Davis.

Habersham D. A. R.

Mrs. T. J. Ripley, regent of the Joseph Habersham Chapter D. A. R., announces a meeting of the executive board, which was postponed last Thursday, to be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the chapter house on Fifteenth street. Miss Junonia Chisholm, chairman, will preside. Plans for the annual Kennerly and other important matters will be discussed.

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One Fourth the Cost

Millions of housewives have found that by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a much more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up distressing coughs.

From any drugist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love it.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping clear the air passages, and soothing away the irritation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

The January meeting of the Junior League takes place this afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club and Mrs. Henry W. Grady Jr., the president, will preside at the session. The current issue of The Cotton Blossom, the League's newsletter, is off the press and contains a message from Mrs. Grady, in which she queries members upon the subjects which will interest them during 1936.

Mrs. Grady says: "What do you think about arts and interests? (According to the Junior League Magazine this subject needs a little stimulation.) Do you know of any new ways to raise money? That would be the educational chairman to plan for you—courses in interior decorating, typing, scenery construction or what have you?"

"Remember the occupational and recreational therapy courses so successful last year? Perhaps you'd like to repeat on that. Or maybe you'd like to study the proposed city-league merger, or the campaign issues in the 1936 presidential election? There are so many fascinating subjects of local or world-wide interest that it will probably be hard to choose between them."

"As you know, January is the month in which the placement chairman makes a serious checkup on the regularity with which Junior League volunteer work has been done. At the meeting, the reports of all the chairmen and subchairmen will further this investigation. While we are in a 'checkup' mood let us check up on the outlook of the Junior League, our prospects for the future."

Dorothy and Frances Grove, young daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Lon Grove, Fleet.

DON'T MISS THESE GRAND TWO-PIECE PAJAMAS.

Ten thousand words could never do justice to this picture of perfection in lounging or sleeping pajamas which somehow have tapped the fountain of youth. Bearing in mind that pajamas, first of all, demand ease and comfort, clinging to a basic simplicity of style accordingly—they nevertheless achieve an undeniable distinction, thanks largely to the tailored turn of the blouse featuring the yoke, sleeves and front panel all in one and softened by a demure Peter Pan collar. A wide self-fabric belt adds a jaunty touch and the blouse buttons all the way down the front. Full cut trousers, of course, and just enough sleeves.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1791-B is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 (34) requires 4 3/8 yards of 38-inch material.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Do not send stamps.

NEW BOOK SIMPLIFIES RAIL CLASSIFICATION

Railroad freight classification, more or less complex in its ramifications, has been simplified in a new volume issued by the railroads. It was announced here by freight agents.

The new classification is smaller by 60 pages than its predecessor. All told, it has been reduced 220 pages, more than one-third in volume, since 1932. The reduction in size and contents was accomplished, it was stated, by elimination of many packaging requirements, consolidation of items and simplification of rules.

The 1936 publication, representing the work of classification committees of New York, Chicago and Atlanta for the past three years, will prove of invaluable service to shippers, according to announcement.

gave $10 to the Junior League to be used toward filling stockings for the children in the Junior League ward at Eggleston hospital.

Every child was presented a Christmas stocking, and the musical Christmas tree, a gift to the ward from the Junior League, again was set up to the delight of the many little patients. Each year this beautiful tree thrills sick children.

Mrs. Robert G. Whitley Jr., thyroid clinic chairman for Grady hospital, urges league members to visit the clinic, which is a Junior League project. She says: "Each Monday and Friday a staff of girls come, assemble their equipment, and go about their individual tasks, so that when the doctors arrive the patients are ready."

Each of these girls knows that her part is an important one in the smooth running of the whole machine on a day when ten patients come in as when 30 descend upon us.

"A girl may set up a complicated camera and system of lights, and during the afternoon take only one picture, but that one picture may be as important in the data we are compiling to assist in thyroid research and further knowledge of glandular disorders, or in the eventual cure of this one poor patient as the six or ten pictures she might take a rush day."

Naturally the even running of these two clinics each week is accomplished by hours of "between clinics" effort.

League officers are: President, Mrs. Henry Grady Jr.; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Cooper; second vice president, Mrs. Dan Conklin; recording secretary, Mrs. Frances Gilbert; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Olive Fleet; and treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Fleet.

DECEPTION AS A FINE ART. In many years and around the bridge table I have encountered scores of magnificent plays. Perhaps I have a distorted artistic sense, but I must confess that I am drawn to me as pure beauty—comparable to a delicate line of poetry or strain of music.

My enthusiasm reached its highest mark when the hand which I am presenting today was brought to my attention. For sheer brilliance along psychological lines, I never have seen its equal.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♠ 9 7 3	♥ 4 3	♠ 10 5	♥ 6 4
♦ A K 7 3	♣ 8 7 6	♦ A Q J 10 5	♣ 8 7 6
♣ 10	♦ 10	♠ A K Q 3 2	♥ 10 5

The bidding:
South West North East
1 diamond 1 spade 2 clubs Pass
2 spades Pass 4 diamonds Pass
4 no trump Pass 5 hearts Pass
6 no trump Pass 7 diamonds Pass
7 no trump (final bid)

Let it be understood that I most heartily disapprove the bidding—which was nothing short of fantastic. The hand-making game to be played in a match-point duplicate game (in which honors are not counted) and South was out for a "top" on the board, hence his choice of no trump rather than the diamond grand slam, which quite obviously would have been a laydown. However, this was the explanation, certainly not an excuse.

South, dealer. The declarer's knowledge an excellent player, played the six of clubs. Before he played a single card, either from the dummy or his own hand, he broke the jack of diamonds. He then studied the situation carefully, his right eye fixed on the dummy, his left on the declarer's hand. He saw that the declarer had three clubs, a total of eleven. If dummy's 10 of clubs should hold, another trick would be added. But where to get the thirteenth?

It was unthinkable that an expert such as West could have led a low club. Size 18 takes 3 1/8 yards 38-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Culbertson on Contract

DECEPTION AS A FINE ART. In many years and around the bridge table I have encountered scores of magnificent plays. Perhaps I have a distorted artistic sense, but I must confess that I am drawn to me as pure beauty—comparable to a delicate line of poetry or strain of music.

My enthusiasm reached its highest mark when the hand which I am presenting today was brought to my attention. For sheer brilliance along psychological lines, I never have seen its equal.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH		SOUTH
♠ 9 7 3	♥ 4 3	♠ 10 5	♥ 6 4
♦ A K 7 3	♣ 8 7 6	♦ A Q J 10 5	♣ 8 7 6
♣ 10	♦ 10	♠ A K Q 3 2	♥ 10 5

The bidding:
South West North East
1 diamond 1 spade 2 clubs Pass
2 spades Pass 4 diamonds Pass
4 no trump Pass 5 hearts Pass
6 no trump Pass 7 diamonds Pass
7 no trump (final bid)

Let it be understood that I most heartily disapprove the bidding—which was nothing short of fantastic. The hand-making game to be played in a match-point duplicate game (in which honors are not counted) and South was out for a "top" on the board, hence his choice of no trump rather than the diamond grand slam, which quite obviously would have been a laydown. However, this was the explanation, certainly not an excuse.

South, dealer. The declarer's knowledge an excellent player, played the six of clubs. Before he played a single card, either from the dummy or his own hand, he broke the jack of diamonds. He then studied the situation carefully, his right eye fixed on the dummy, his left on the declarer's hand. He saw that the declarer had three clubs, a total of eleven. If dummy's 10 of clubs should hold, another trick would be added. But where to get the thirteenth?

It was unthinkable that an expert such as West could have led a low club. Size 18 takes 3 1/8 yards 38-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

FOUR SUSPECTS ADMIT BURGLARY OF GROCERY

Looting of the Crawford Grocery store Saturday at 69 Madison avenue, N. E., was reported cleared up yesterday and the loot recovered by Chief J. T. Dailey and Officers Ed Foster and Hubert Day, of DeKalb county police.

Four negroes arrested in connection with the burglary confessed yesterday, officers reported. Charges of burglary were placed against L. C. Harris, Henry Stafford and Nathan Travis, all negroes, and John Smith, negro, was charged with receiving stolen goods.

Officers said they found the loot in the loft of Smith's home at 1541 East street.

THREE ADDED TO FIRM OF HIRSCH AND SMITH

The law firm of Harold Hirsch and Marion Smith yesterday announced that three of its associates have been made members of the firm. They are Martin S. Kilpatrick, A. S. Clay and Devereaux F. McClatchey Jr.

Mr. Kilpatrick, a first-honor graduate of the Lumpkin Law school of the University of Georgia, has been an associate since 1930, while Mr. McClatchey, a graduate of Emory University, has been with the firm since 1930.

Other associates are John P. Stewart, Thomas J. Long, William B. Cady, E. P. Rogers, Hamilton Lohry, Arthur L. Harris, Julian Gortawsky, Edward L. Cady, F. D. Smith Jr. and Joseph J. Fine.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Editor of "My Day" column. Correspondence invited. Your name and address will be kept confidential. Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: Will you enumerate some of the advantages of marriage over spinsterhood? I am 25, have been earning my own living since I was 19 and now make a good salary. I am not in love but a young man who got on well in the world and has bright prospects for the future has asked me to marry him. I respect him, admire him and love him, but I am not sure I love him enough to marry him. The love that I read about in novels and see on the screen is merely a fairy tale to me. E. H.

Answer: Minus love, marriage probably has no advantage over spinsterhood that is self-supporting, self-sufficient and altogether independent. The key word in married life is sacrifice and without love sacrifice is all bitterness and has no sweetness in it. Marriage means sacrifice, regardless of affluence the couple may enjoy. It means sacrifice of what you want to do, where you want to go, the way you want to live. It means that you can no longer decide any problem considering yourself exclusively. You have always to consider the partner, to give up and do it graciously, to go when you prefer to stay, to stay when you prefer to go, to spend when you had rather save and save when you had rather spend. Marriage is a signing away of your independence, first to a man, then to your common life together. If there are children, this means years of servitude to them, in addition. Love will compensate a woman richly for all of this loss of independence but it is doubtful if any material consideration will.

The average normal woman wants companionship, close, comfortable, intelligent companionship. Reasonably enough, she finds it to perfection in a mate. (Provided she has the wit to choose wisely and well.) She wants a man who is kind to somebody and the joy of having someone belong to her. She reveals in the pride of possession and gets her chief delight in knowing that she is loved by a man who has no such excess. And if she is unsentimental, unromantic and undomestic she should stand aside and leave the men to their own kind of love. There are not enough men to go around.

For the woman who prefers the office to the kitchen, for the woman who is satisfied to take her romance from the page and the screen rather than from real life, for the woman who enjoys friendship with a man, yet experiences no quickening of her pulse at his presence, one who has to write down the advantages of the League of Nations rose embargoes in order to perceive them, for that woman marriage would be a dubious venture. And if she is satisfied where she is, she had better stay there.

Here are some points she should consider. It is one thing to have a good-paying position, youth, health and a courting beau and quite another to find oneself at middle age and one's acceptability in business greatly reduced. It is one thing to have the companionship of a man, a friend, to feel the inflation of spirit that being desired and being desired gives a woman an edge another to be marooned in middle life without any contact with masculine minds except that got in the business office. She may look ahead and see just this coming conation to be faced. For the man who has a mind to marry don't change their minds because one woman turns them down. They find another and the change, planned to reach there are just a few men hanging around loose. Some of these are confirmed bachelors whose habits of life are formed, who won't change their minds about remaining bachelors, some are widowers (they are generally gobbled up quickly) and the others are leftovers whom nobody has been willing to take. Not a fat prospect!

In the last analysis, the advantage of marriage over spinsterhood is just this: the completed, the fulfilled life for a woman is to have a husband, a home, a family. This completed cycle of life takes her eternally to heights of earthly happiness and to the valley of despair. To know the heights she must touch the depths and she can never see to the one when she is in the other. Nothing but love will warrant her undergoing the journey and even when she has love she will often ask herself the question, "Was it worth what it cost?"

FRANCE PROBING ARMY RIFLES PLOT

Suspected Action Held in Violation of League Embargo.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A suspected plot to ship 3,000 army rifles and machine guns to Italy, in violation of the League of Nations arms embargo, was under investigation tonight by the French government.

A carload of arms, which disappeared from the Toulouse freight yard January 4, was found to have been sent to the port of La Nouvelle. Authorities said they believed persons trying to penetrate the embargo might have made the change, planning to load the arms onto a ship at La Nouvelle.

In some quarters the opinion was expressed the carload might have been intended for use in a possible revolt in Spain.

Business Women To Meet Wednesday

"Woman's Civic Responsibility" will be the theme of the program of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the meeting at the Francis Virginia tea room, Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Agnes DePoe, chairman of the legislative committee, will discuss the qualifications for voting in the city and state elections; permanent city registration; the merger of the city and county government; the elections scheduled for 1936 and issues involved. Mrs. DePoe states that the members of the legislative committee hope, through an informative, constructive program, to arouse a greater sense of civic responsibility; to create a sounder thinking among business and professional women; to further the goal of the national federation to have women united for a more effective democracy and to work for a more enlightened attitude in building for social security.

Miss Roberta Sylvester, a student at the Woodrow Wilson School of Law, and Miss Mary Croft, student at Atlanta Law school, will discuss the subject "Discrimination Against Married Women in Business and the Professions," the object being to clarify points on each side.

Both the local club and the National Federation of Business and Professional Women are on record as opposing any legislation on sex or marital status, believing that merit should be the determining factor.

Mrs. Lila Ellis will resume her weekly book and current event reviews, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the clubroom at 703 Grand Theater building.

For Miss Weyman.

Among parties planned in honor of Miss Betsy Weyman, whose marriage to Alexander Yearley IV, will take place February 5, is the luncheon to be given at the Piedmont Driving Club by Mrs. William Wellborn and Miss Mary Wellborn on January 12 and to assemble the bride-elect and her wedding attendants.

Rose Garden Club.

Rose Garden Club members meet at 10:30 o'clock on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. W. Beers, 2125 avenue de Leon avenue, with Mrs. Harrison Hines and Mrs. Frank Berry serving as co-hostesses.

ATLANTA DEPOSITS INCREASE $38,000,000

Banks Show Big Gain in Comparison With Total Last Year.

Further indications of Atlanta's return to prosperity came yesterday with banks reporting increases of approximately $38,000,000 on deposit December 31, 1935, as compared with deposits on the same date the previous year. A total of $230,547,861.36 was reported.

In round figures deposits of the Citizens & Southern National Bank were $70,000,000 on December 31, 1935, and $62,000,000 on that date in 1934, it was said. Its deposits, which are said to include those of four other Georgia cities, were $70,618,808.18.

The Fulton National Bank reported $30,001,633.74; the First National $101,708,804.48, and the Trust Company of Georgia $19,218,824.90. Increase of total clearings over those of 1934, generally regarded as a normal year, was said to be $94,150,043.00.

First bank clearings for 1935 showed an increase for the day of more than $2,000,000 over those for the same date in 1935, it was said.

E. R. Gornley, state superintendent of banks, yesterday asked his financial institutions under his department to submit as soon as possible reports on their conditions as of December 31. He said that a consolidation would be made in his office and that a survey showing conditions as against those of December 31, 1934, would be made public about February 1.

BIBLE CLUB AT Y.M.C.A. TO RESUME LECTURES

Y. M. C. A. Bible Club will resume its series of weekly lectures with a talk to be given by the Rev. R. A. Schermerhorn, professor of philosophy at Gammon Theological Seminary, at 8:45 o'clock tonight, in the "Y" building at 145 Luckie street, N. W. Lectures on "What Can I Believe?" will be held every Tuesday night this month in the "Y" building and will be open to all young men of this city.

WILL HARRIDGE PRAISES WORK IN AMERICAN

League President Points
Out Features of Last Year.

By Will Harridge.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—(AP)—We American leaguers will be proud of our players during 1935, for they not only won the all-star game for the third time but also were triumphant in the World Series when the Detroit Tigers vanquished the Chicago Cubs in six games.

The Tigers did not look like champions in the spring. In fact it seemed as if New York, Chicago or Cleveland would finish in front, but Detroit after a very poor start, settled down and gradually overcame the lead owned by four of their rivals, finally going to the front and remaining there.

Chicago, after a most spectacular start at the outset of the season, again experienced the bad luck that beset the White Sox in 1934, and with most of their regulars being injured at one time or another, slipped down to fifth place. Cleveland was handicapped because of accidents, while New York lacked its suspected strength in pitching. Boston had its troubles in its infield and those two veterans, Grove and Ferrell, pitching seasonally, could not bring the Red Sox home in better than fourth place.

There were numerous incidents which made the American league season of 1935 one to be remembered.

GEHRIG GOES ON.
Lou Gehrig stretched his string of consecutive games to 1,633.

Vernon Kennedy, rookie White Sox pitcher, pitched a no-hit game against Cleveland.

Roger Cramer, of Philadelphia, made six hits in six times at bat, being the first American league batsman to do so twice.

Ted Lyons, of Chicago, became the first pitcher ever to make two two-base hits in an inning.

Buddy Myer, of Washington, won the batting championship from Joe Vosmik, of Cleveland, on the very last day of the season.

To temper our joy over the victory of Detroit in the World Series, there was the tremendous loss to the American league occasioned by the death of Frank J. Navin, president and half-owner of the Tigers and vice president of the league. With his passing, Walter O. Briggs, nationally known manufacturer, became sole owner of the Detroit club, while Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, became vice president of the league.

MOTOR TRAVEL.

Motor travel in California increased 15.3 per cent over 1934, the semi-annual traffic count for 1935 made by the state division of highways indicated.

HENDRIX'S WIN WARNS NATION

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Arthur Hendrix's victory over Wilmer Allison in New Orleans Sunday was hailed today by C. L. Varner, president of the State Tennis Association, as serving notice on the nation that Florida has an outstanding crop of youthful tennis players.

Varner predicted that before long the best of these players will be making serious bids for places on the Davis cup team. He named Charles Harris, Martin Buxby, Gardner Malloy, Frank Guernsey as the most promising along with Hendrix.

"But these are not our youngest outstanding players. Behind them is 17-year-old Ralph Newman, of Orlando, who, in my opinion, will surpass any of the state's present players when he reaches his prime," Varner said.

City's First Ace of '36 Is Credited to Indell

Atlanta's first hole-in-one for 1936 was recorded Sunday morning when H. W. Indell sank a tee shot on the 14th green at the Capital City Country Club. It was five days after some of the city's numerous firsts were recorded, but nevertheless, it goes down as the first ace of the city links for 1936.

Playing with Indell were H. H. Sampson, R. S. Hammond and Charles Dannels Sr. and despite the soggy greens, four very good scores were turned in.

The 14th hole measures 140 yards from the tee and it takes one of the most accurate shots on the course to make the winter green.

In addition to the foursome in which Indell played, there were more than 100 other golfers on the Capital City course during the day.

Howard Beckett, professional at the Capital City course, stated Monday that the recent ice and snow did not materially damage the course, and with several days of warm sun, the greens will be in good shape again.

DEMPEY'S PUG TO SCRAP HOPE OF JACK KEARNS

Old Team Turns Fake
Feud Into a Cash
Register.

By John Lardner.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American News-Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—For 11 years, Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns have conducted the most gorgeous grudge in the prizefight industry. This grudge will enter a dramatic, if highly phony, phase on Friday next when Mr. Kearns' new heavyweight meets Mr. Dempsey's new heavyweight at Madison Square Garden.

Mr. Kearns' heavyweight is an alleged homicide named from Colorado, called Hank Bath. Mr. Dempsey's guy is James Clarence Burman, a Baltimore youth who wisely discarded the "James Clarence" from the front of his label and now goes about under the tougher, though far from original, title of "Red."

Since neither fighter amounts to much as yet, the bout is advertised chiefly as a return engagement between Mr. Kearns and Mr. Dempsey.

WON GLORY TOGETHER.
These two blokes, as you know if you've read any heavyweight history, were partners in the early days of Mr. Dempsey's rise to glory.

Kearns adopted Mr. Dempsey when the latter was a slugging, bludge-stiff, or hobo, and guided him through various dubious channels to the heavyweight championship of the world. Dempsey was a great fighter and Kearns was a great manager. In fact, Kearns was the model for all the movie and story-book managers of the last 10 years—the fellows who are known as "Doc" and who go around putting horseshoes in the mouths of fighters and scaring his opponent with fake leg cramps.

A couple of years before the Dempsey-Kearns fight, Mr. Kearns stopped managing Dempsey and began selling him instead. That was when the grudge reached its peak. Mr. Kearns sued away with a will, and Mr. Dempsey looked grumpy and hurt.

"I have been chiseled three ways by Dempsey," said Mr. Kearns.

"I regret that your name is Kearns," said Mr. Dempsey, or words to that effect.

But pretty soon Mr. Kearns went broke, and the grudge stopped. After all, you cannot conduct a grudge with one hand and solicit a nickel for a cup of coffee with the other.

Mr. Kearns was forced to devote all his attention to the business of hustling dough. Only when he had enough to eat could he take a few minutes out and cuss Mr. Dempsey in the manner to which Mr. Dempsey was accustomed.

They met once in 1932, at the fight between Schmeling and Mickey Walker. Kearns, in Walker's corner, was minding his own business when Mr. Dempsey shocked and appalled him by coming over and shaking his hand. Mr. Kearns was so disturbed by this infraction of all international grudge rules that he could do nothing but shake his head and mutter "not cricket."

JOHNSTON COMEBACK.
The grudge waxed and waned for a couple of years thereafter. It seemed to your correspondent, and to many observers, that the grudge was pretty well played out. But James J. Johnston, the far-sighted matchmaker of Madison Square Garden, had been keeping his eye on it, and when Mr. Kearns began to make rodding sounds on the Pacific coast about his new fighter, Bath, Mr. Johnston went into rapid conference with Dempsey.

"Kearns has got a fighter," said Mr. Johnston. "Have you got a fighter?"

"Why, yes," said Mr. Dempsey. "I am chief adviser to Red Burman, the great, sensational!"

"All right," said Mr. Johnston. "It's a match."

So the boys are fighting eight rounds on Friday night, and the grudge is good for another few weeks at least. I mean, unless Mr. Dempsey loses it. Mr. Dempsey is likely to queer the play by shaking Mr. Kearns' hand again and smiling forgiveness. Mr. Dempsey is quite a nuisance that way.

But the promoters are relying on Mr. Kearns, a cold, stern fellow with a long memory, to keep the feud alive. And Mr. Kearns is doing his best.

"I do not speak to Dempsey as we pass by," he informed your correspondent. "Dempsey may be all right, but he is a damn good fighter. We do not speak as we pass by. And when my guy fights his guy on Friday, my guy will knock his guy into Dempsey's lap."

Bath, the Kearns fighter, is said to have scored 38 knockouts in 39 starts. Burman, the Dempsey man, has licked some promising candidates as Steve Duda, Terry Mitchell and Tony Celli. Both boys will scale around 180 pounds. It might be a good fight at that. And there will be several other nice bouts on the card.

SOIL EROSION SURVEY PLANNED FOR SOUTH

Relation of Land Washing to Silting of Reservoirs
To Be Studied.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture is beginning a series of erosion surveys on watersheds lying above six reservoirs in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia.

The surveys are being made to provide fundamental scientific data on the relation of soil erosion to the silting of reservoirs. Similar surveys will be made in Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas and California.

In the southeast, the surveys will cover all, or portions of 41 counties and a total of 6,886 square miles. All or portions of 13 counties will be covered in the survey in Georgia. Approximately 1,800 square miles in the watershed area lying above the Lloyd Shoals reservoir, including all or portions of Grinnell, Barrow, Fulton, DeKalb, Clayton, Fayette, Henry, Spalding, Butts, Jasper, Newton, Rockdale and Walton counties will be surveyed.

Temporarily, G. A. Crabb, of the Soil Conservation Service, will be in immediate charge of the surveys in the four southeastern states. Headquarters for the work in Georgia and South Carolina have been established at Atlanta.

H. Bennett, chief of the service, says completion of the surveys will give authoritative information "on the direct relationship of soil erosion to costly reservoir silting. It is possible to show how the soil washed from a farm several miles from a reservoir directly contributes to the expensive sedimentation of that reservoir."

"Millions of dollars in investment values are lost each year because of this reservoir silting and the survey will show the value of soil conservation and erosion control in protecting these investments."

In South Carolina, the survey will cover about 80 square miles in Greenville and Spartanburg counties, in the watershed area lying above the Spartanburg municipal reservoir. It is expected that about 25 men will be assigned to the work in Virginia and North Carolina, and a similar number in South Carolina and Georgia.

RITES AT BALL GROUND FOR WILLIAM AARON

BALL GROUND, Ga., Jan. 6.—Funeral services for William Mercer Aaron, prominent local citizen, who was killed yesterday in an auto-truck crash between Woodstock and Canton, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock with Rev. T. E. Booth, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Mr. Aaron was a member of the Cherokee county board of education; was a past worshipful master of the Elks lodge; a past grand master of the Odd Fellows lodge; and a leader in church and civic affairs.

He is survived by his wife and six children; his father and mother, Rev. J. H. Aaron and Mrs. Aaron, of Mineral Bluff; three brothers, Dr. W. F. J. and N. J. Aaron, of Atlanta; and a sister, Mrs. C. T. Smith, of Atlanta.

JOHN G. SWANSTON, 79, PASSES AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—John G. Swanston, 79, for years a member of the Golden Rule Council No. 12, L. O. O. F., died here last night after a long illness.

Swanston was a past grand master of the Odd Fellows of Georgia; a past grand of the Golden Rule lodge; and a past grand representative to the Grand grand lodge of the United States.

In the Royal Arcanum he was a member of Pulaski Council 153 for 15 years, and secretary of the organization for 23 years. He was a past grand regent of the state of Georgia.

ALBANY TO CELEBRATE CENTENNIAL IN 1936

ALBANY, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Thousands of visitors are expected here in 1936 for the city's centennial celebration and three scheduled conventions.

The Garden Club is planning an elaborate program for the state centennial celebration of that organization, April 2 and 3.

Doctors from several states are expected for the meeting of the Chattahoochee Valley Medical Association at Radium Springs, July 14 and 15.

Several hundred Kiwanians are expected for the state convention here in the fall. The 1935 meeting was held at Savannah in September.

The centennial program will probably take place in October.

About 300 farmers and county agents are expected in October for the meeting of the meat curing division of the Georgia Manufacturers' Association.

Smaller group and district meetings from time to time are expected to bring many more visitors.

HEARD PRIMARY DATE IS SET FOR FEBRUARY 5

FRANKLIN, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—The Heard county democratic executive committee has fixed February 5 for the primary election in which county officials will be named for the next four years.

Candidates announced already are: For sheriff, C. W. Bledsoe; for county school superintendent, W. E. Dent; for clerk of superior court, G. A. Adams; all incumbents; for tax commissioner, W. C. Hill, incumbent; and H. W. Stripling, for the newly-created office of commissioner of roads and revenues, S. R. Heard, J. W. Gentry, Hugh Goodson and J. A. Kent.

COBB COUNTY PRISON IS SELF-SUPPORTING

MARIETTA, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Cobb county's chain gang is virtually self-supporting, Warden John Hood said today.

The 102 convicts, most of whom are negroes, live on a large county-owned farm and produce enough foodstuffs for their consumption and a surplus for sale. Some food produced by the gang is sold to the county almshouse.

A feed and grain mill, a large dairy and a cannery are kept in operation at the farm. Hood said.

The mill produces feed for cattle and meat for the men. The dairy output of milk and butter supplies the farm and the poorhouse.

The cannery preserved 900 gallons of kraut, 170 gallons of pickles and an undetermined amount of vegetables.

Last year the farm produced 700 bushels of corn, 1,800 bushels of sweet potatoes and 600 gallons of corn. Enough hay and fodder for a full year's use was produced, along with 33 hogs.

The warden said several bales of cotton were sold from the farm last year.

Nominated Marshal

HENRY C. WALTHOUR.

CARROLLTON REPORTS BIG BUSINESS GAIN

City Taxes Paid Up, Merchants Enjoyed Heavy Sales During 1935.

CARROLLTON, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—This city enjoyed an encouraging business advance during 1935, a survey conducted through the co-operation of local officials disclosed today.

In every phase of business activity substantial gains were made and prospects for 1936 were classed as "bright."

Carrollton is in better shape financially than a year ago, with no debts and no 1935 taxes to be collected. The Revenue taxes have been reduced 25 per cent, but municipal facilities have been improved instead of lessened.

Schools finished the year free of debt and owing teachers nothing in back salaries. The fire department is better equipped today than ever before.

A survey of farm conditions revealed the Carroll county farmers have had better crops and more money to spend.

Postmaster Olin Spence reported an eight per cent increase in postal receipts at the close of the December quarter over the same quarter of 1934.

Building in the city showed a large increase over the previous year, with many new homes being constructed.

The textile industry has shown substantial increases. All mills are running at capacity for the first time in a long time.

One highway mill reports a 15 per cent gain in volume of business and other mills indicated there were encouraging gains.

Banking deposits are estimated to have increased $50,000.

The local branch of the Georgia Power Company fixed its increase at 20 per cent.

The local building and loan association also reported increased business in 1935 and expressed confidence for 1936.

Headed Ball Committee.
COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—James W. Woodruff has been elected general chairman, for the third consecutive year, of the annual birthday ball committee here. Mrs. Rhodes Brown is co-chairman. One ball will be given at the Country Club and another at the Elks club on February 1.

Chamber Directors Named.
COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Members of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce have elected the following directors: Walter Pike, secretary, announced today.

W. J. Fielder, H. Dixon Smith, Rhodes Brown, Ralph I. King, George S. Sizer, Duke Kiver, L. W. McPherson, Simon Schwab, J. W. Woodruff and T. G. Reeves.

Debate at University.
ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Debate of the State Teachers' College and University of Georgia will discuss relative powers of congress and the supreme court tomorrow night.

Harry Baxter, of Athens, and Colbert Hawkins, of Monroe, will represent Georgia.

Masonic Name Officers.
CARROLLTON, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Raymond O. Muse was elected worshipful master of the Temple Masonic lodge at its recent meeting.

Other officers for 1936 are: J. M. West, senior warden; A. H. Hamrick, junior warden; C. M. Hudspeth, secretary; C. M. Stallings, treasurer; H. M. Manning, senior deacon; W. F. Lambert, junior deacon; Treas. T. H. Stewart; G. D. Jacobs, junior steward; and W. L. Threadgill, chaplain.

Headed Kiwanians.
MOUNTAIN, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—M. A. MacDonald has recently been installed as president of the local Kiwanis Club by L. L. Moore, district governor. The new officers include J. Harry Halpert, immediate past president; C. W. Cook, vice president; Harry Williams, treasurer, and W. B. Withers, secretary.

Directors for 1936 are: W. E. Young, John Parker, I. C. Johnson, Wilby Brantley, Jack Beatty, Frank McCall and Mae Nusbaum.

Bowdon Masonic Officers.
BOWDON, Ga., Jan. 6.—(AP)—At the regular meeting of the Bowdon lodge, the following officers were installed: Eldon Dittmore, W. M.; Gerald Garrett, S. V.; Roy Davis, J. W.; H. S. Yates, S. J.; F. E. Arlington, J. D.; Lewis Millican, S.; Lewis Vance, J. S.; Roy Lane, chaplain, and W. S. McElroy, secretary-treasurer. Dr. U. C. Bean, a past master, installed the officers before a large membership of the lodge and a number of visitors.

New Odum Pastor.
ODUM, Ga., Jan. 6.—Rev. O. J. Broome arrived here yesterday with his family to take up his work as pastor of Odum Baptist church. He has served as pastor at Homer, Fort Gaines, Marietta, Ocala, and Jeffersonville and Oviedo, Fla.

Along with his work here, the pastor will also serve Jones Creek church at Ludwicks.

Wilkes Date Set.
WASHINGTON, Ga., Jan. 6.—The democratic executive committee of Wilkes county has fixed March 10 as the date of the primary for county officers, with February 10 as the final date on which candidates may qualify. Entrance fees will be fixed by a committee composed of Chairman A. C. Barnett, Secretary W. A. Slaton and T. W. Bell.

Candidates for the legislature were voted permission to enter the county primary. All present officeholders have signified their intention to stand for re-election.

Entertain Veterans.
WASHINGTON, Ga., Jan. 6.—Members of Washington high school band, under direction of W. T. Verran, leader, and Mrs. Verran as accompanist, presented a program in Augusta Friday evening for World War veterans inmates of Lenwood hospital.

Garden Club Prizes.
MONTZUMA, Ga., Jan. 6.—A special committee announced the winners in the recent contest sponsored by the Montzuma Garden Club for the most attractively decorated outdoor Christmas tree.

The contest was won by Mrs. Jack Reid with first prize with a silvered fir tree with white lights; Mrs. Will Guerry, second, with a tree decorated with red and green lights and a silver cross in the top; Mrs. Hale Fulton, third prize, with a large tree decorated with vari-colored lights.

WALHOUR NOMINATED SABANNAH MARSHAL

Names of 16 Georgia Postmasters Sent to Senate by President.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the name of Henry Clayton Walhour, of Savannah, to be United States marshal for the southern district of Georgia; the names of 16 Georgians to be postmasters in various cities and towns of the state; and the names of six residents of the commonwealth to be promoted in the foreign service.

The postmasters named by the President, together with their posts, follow: Thomas W. Dalton, Alto; Lucius Hannon, Alto; Elizabeth H. Quinn, Barnesville; Evelyn W. Simpson, Burd; Jesse S. Weather, Cairo; Iris B. Owen, Concord; John Marsh Gillette, Demorest; Mae W. Duke, Gibson; Sarah B. Fox, Harlem; W. Hugh Rice, Hiawasee; Charlie T. Hightower, Hogansville; Victor H. Garfield, Jackson; Clifton O. Lloyd, Lendale; Walter T. Schilling, Marietta; J. Stanley Newton, Norman Park; Wilbur N. Harwell, Oxford.

Promotions in the foreign service include the following: Howard Bucknell Jr. from class five to class four; Lester N. Schrage from class six to class five; John Carter Vincent from class seven to class six; William T. Turner from class eight to class seven; Gordon L. Burke from unclassified to foreign service office of eighth class and from vice consul of career to consul, and Duncan M. White to be foreign service officer, unclassified, vice consul of career and secretary in the diplomatic service.

Mr. Walhour, who was nominated for the marshaling of the southern district, was characterized by Representative Hugh Peterson, of the Savannah congressional district, as the "best selection the President could make for the post."

Following the death of Marshal Joe Crawley, of Waycross, last summer, Mr. Walhour was designated by the federal court as acting marshal. His nomination to the post was endorsed by both Georgia senators, Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell, Jr., and by Representative Peterson.

The new marshal is one of the most prominent citizens of Savannah, according to Mr. Peterson, and has been active in real estate and cotton business there for many years. He resigned as Chatham county commissioner to accept the designation as acting marshal. If confirmed by the senate—and there is no doubt of favorable action, the marshaling will be the first federal office ever held by him.

All America Thrills to Double-Mellow Old Golds

NOW ON SALE NATION-WIDE

Capital City Club Sales Double, too! "Old Golds are Double-Mellow and that goes for sales too," says D. S. Wells, Manager of the smoke stand.

ST. LOUIS

NEW ORLEANS

CLEVELAND

Cleveland's smart set goes double-mellow! "It's amazing to see how many prominent Cleveland women have changed over to Double-Mellow Old Golds in the last few weeks," writes Mrs. Victor B. Phillips, Cleveland Socialite.

NEW YORK

The biggest hit on Broadway. At the famous Paradise Restaurant where the "Old Maestro," Ben Bernie, holds forth, the sales of Old Golds doubled in November and redoubled in December. "Double-Mellow" did it!

Sensational Success. "Double-Mellow Old Golds' popularity is truly sensational. Sales increasing by leaps and bounds," says E. W. Rohlfing, manager of cigarette shop, Stix, Baer & Fuller.

Old Gold-rush hits town. "You'd think it was Mardi Gras week," says Odessa Mayfield, manager of Roosevelt Hotel Cigarette Counter, "the way folks crowd in to buy these Double-Mellow Old Golds."

New cigarette delight clicks with smokers everywhere!

LAST OCTOBER, Lorillard introduced a new cigarette delight, with this amazing offer:

"Smoke half a pack of Double-Mellow Old Golds. If it isn't the finest cigarette you ever tasted, you'll get double your money back."

Never before had a tobacco firm made such an offer. But Lorillard knew what it was doing. It felt sure that every lover of fine tobacco would get a thrill from the prize crop leaf in Double-Mellow O.G.s.

So it has proved! If you'll ask at any cigarette counter you'll find that Double-Mellow Old Golds are winning smokers who haven't changed their brands in years.

Lorillard believes that Double-Mellow Old Golds will add, greatly, to your cigarette enjoyment. But that's for you to say. Try them on this distinct agreement: "If YOU don't get a thrill, we'll pay the bill . . . and pay it DOUBLE!"

HOLLYWOOD

"It stars with the stars," Eddie Cantor writes, "Double-Mellow Old Golds are selling 2 to 1 over any other brand at United Artists Cafeteria, according to the cigarette attendants here." (Mr. Cantor, dressed for his role in the Samuel Goldwyn production, "Strike Me Pink")

CHICAGO

A sell-out at the Morrison. "One week after Double-Mellow Old Golds hit Chicago, we had to treble our usual order. 24 hours later, we were practically down to our last carton," says Charles A. Rubey, proprietor Hotel Morrison Cigarette Stand.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK if they don't win YOU

as per offer made to smokers since Oct. 6, 1935

TAKE a sporting chance on a pack of Double-Mellow Old Golds. Smoke ten of the cigarettes. If you don't say they're the finest you've ever tasted, mail the package wrapper and the remaining cigarettes to us at any time before May 1st, 1936, and we'll send you double the price you paid for the full package, plus postage.

MORGAN TO DEFEND LOANS IN WORLD WAR

Financier, Partners Contend Money Did Not Cause U.S. To Enter Fight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—J. P. Morgan and his senior partners came to Washington tonight to tell a senate investigating committee tomorrow that money lent to the allies had little "if any" effect in leading the United States into the World War.

Senate investigators, primed with evidence gained in an eight-month study of files of Morgan & Company, contend the documents show that America went into the war to protect private loans to the allies.

Cognizant long in advance of the views of the munitions committee headed by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, Thomas W. Lamont and George Whitney, Morgan partners, issued a statement tonight on behalf of Morgan and themselves scoffing at the idea.

The purpose of the investigation hinged on the effort of the Nye committee to win support for a stern neutrality bill designed to keep America out of future wars by shutting Americans out of the war zone and restricting loans and exports to belligerents.

The Lamont-Whitney statement contended that so few individuals were interested in allied loans that it could have been only a small factor in generating pro-ally sentiment.

Who Were Holders? "Who were the holders in this group who, as alleged, were so fearful about the goodness of their investments," the partners asked, "that they brought pressure upon President Wilson and the congress to get us into war?"

"Investors do not act like that. If they thought any of their bonds were in jeopardy they would promptly sell them, rather than hazard their all in a war."

Morgan & Company acted as agents in America for Anglo-French purchases during the years before American entry into the war.

In that period the company bought $3,000,000,000 of supplies for the allies, at a commission of one per cent gross. This, the statement said, represented less than half of allied purchasing prior to American entry into the war.

Unsecured Loans.

Moreover, the partners contended that only $1,000,000,000 or 15 per cent of the payment for upwards of $7,000,000,000 in purchases was unsecured loans.

"To whatever extent, if any, the so-called economic tie-up with the allies was a war cause," the statement continued, "such tie-up was not to any single groups, be they industrial, agricultural or banking, but to the whole country which had shared in the prosperity due to the allied enormous purchases here of wheat, cotton, munitions and other supplies."

"They were having their profits or their rewards without war."

Morgan, Whitney and Lamont were asked to appear together for questioning in the largest committee room of the senate.

While Whitney and Lamont voiced their views, Chairman Nye, of the committee, challenged their statements in an address over the National Broadcasting System.

"When writers tell us there was no commercial incentive drawing us into war and that it was submarine warfare by Germany that caused our ultimate holy participation," Nye said, "one can be sure that writer would do better at fiction or that he, though by chance a Harvard professor, is wholly ignorant of facts and wholly blind to well-established evidence."

CITY PARKS SHOW PROFIT OF $71,438.96

Golf, Cyclorama, Pools and Tennis Lead as Recreational Revenue Getters.

The Atlanta park department last year turned $71,438.96 into the municipal treasury through operation of various recreational centers and concessions, according to the annual report filed yesterday with city council.

In addition thousands of dollars worth of improvements have been made in various sections of the city.

The five golf courses produced $31,409.75 of the total from the 13,700 players who used the courses. Piedmont park led the list with 34,941 players and revenue listed at $8,735.25.

The cyclorama painting of the Battle of Atlanta was the next largest single revenue getter with 88,640 visitors who paid $13,455.10 for the privilege. Swimming receipts were third, totaling $10,624.40. Tennis courts were fourth with a total revenue of $2,987.20.

George I. Simons, general manager, pointed to the gift of 84 animals and birds to the Gress zoo at Grant park. Asa G. Candler Jr. gave the animals to "Atlanta," and Simons praised him for his generosity and the move which, Simons said, made the local zoo one of the best in the entire south.

Simons also praised The Constitution, the Georgian and the Journal for their aid in raising funds to build proper housing facilities for the additions.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Sara M. Burroughs, of Atlanta, and Miss Mary Moise, of New Haven; two sons, E. Warren Moise, of Atlanta, and Dr. Moise, of Bangor; five grandchildren, Stiles B. Burroughs Jr., Sidney Burroughs, Marion Moise, all of Atlanta, and Ted and Roy Moise, of Bangor.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Montgomery, Ala.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR FRANK E. KEHRER

Funeral services for Frank E. Kehrer, former executive of the Georgia Market Bureau and a resident of Atlanta and Decatur for many years, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the chapel of Avery & Lowndes with the Rev. D. P. McGeehy officiating.

Mr. Kehrer, later associated with the Federal Marketing Bureau, had been a trustee and a lifelong member of the Mount Carmel church. He died Sunday at his home, 526 South Candler street, Decatur.

Following services here the body will be taken to the Mount Carmel church cemetery, near Norcross, for burial at 1 o'clock, (eastern standard time).

No change in the package, BUT, BOY...wait 'til you taste these DOUBLE-MELLOW cigarettes!
